

Lewis V. Thomas

ELEMENTARY TURKISH

Revised and Edited by Norman Itzkowitz

Editor's Note

LEWIS VICTOR THOMAS was born in Chicago, February 27, 1914, and died in Princeton, October 21, 1965. He grew up in Indiana and was proud of his Hoosier background. He was trained as a classicist and orientalist at the University of Chicago and its Oriental Institute. Shortly after World War II he took his Ph.D. under Paul Wittek at Brussels. In 1947 he joined the Princeton faculty.

An accomplished teacher, Thomas made his seminars in Ottoman history and his courses in the Turkish language a training ground for many of America's growing group of Ottomanists and Turkish specialists. As a teacher he was keenly aware of the lack of adequate teaching materials. During his last year Thomas was hard at work preparing this grammar for publication, but his illness prevented him from completing the project to which he had devoted so much effort. He asked me to see the book through to publication, and I have made the necessary revisions with the kind assistance of Mr. Salih Necdet Ok, whose help I gratefully acknowledge.

In the process of editing the manuscript I have preserved almost all of Thomas's organization and method. This book has helped many Princeton students to learn modern Turkish quickly. It is hoped that it will now enable even more students to achieve that goal and that through them Lewis V. Thomas's influence will continue in the field of Turkish studies that he served so well.

Preface

THE PURPOSE of this book is to enable English-speaking students to recognize, understand, and begin to use the basic patterns of modern standard Turkish. These basic patterns are, insofar as possible, presented one by one in a sequence that experience has shown to yield maximum results for English speakers.

The exercises are intended to present the student with the elements of Turkish in a form which he can begin to use. New vocabulary occurring in the exercises can be located in the Glossary.

An effort has been made to limit the material presented to those forms and patterns that in fact make up elementary standard modern Turkish. My thanks are due to the generations of Princeton University students who have uncomplainingly used the book in its successive mimeographed editions and in so doing have helped me learn what elementary Turkish is. Thanks are also due to my colleagues Professor Norman Itzkowitz and Mr. Cevat Erder and to a valiant typist, Mrs. Elsa Washington.

C	С	ce	as j in jump
Ç	Ç	çe	as ch in church
D	d	de	as in English
E	e	e	as in fed
F	f	fe	as in English
G	g	ge	as in go

LET	TER	NAME	APPROXIMATE PRONUNCIATION
Ğ	ğ	yumuşak ge	as y in yet (See the note
		(soft g)	in Lesson 1, section 2.)
Н	h	he	as in head
I	1	1	as the second vowel in nation
İ	i	i	as in bit
J	j	je	as s in measure
K	k	ke	as in king
L	1	le	as in English
M	m	me	as in English
N	n	ne	as in English
O	o	0	as o in falsetto
Ö	ö	ö	as eu in French peu
P	p	pe	as in English
R	r	re	as in rock
S	S	se	as in sit
Ş	ş	şe	as sh in shoe
T	t	te	as in English
U	u	u	as u in pull
Ü	ü	ü	as ü in über
V	v	ve	as in English
Y	у	ye	as in yellow
Z	Z	ze	as in English

In general, stress tends to be placed on the last syllable in a word.

2. 'Soft g'

 \check{G} , \check{g} (yumuşak ge 'soft g'). This letter never begins a word. When it immediately follows a back vowel, a vowel formed in the back of the mouth (a, i, o, u): see Lesson 4, section 4), its sound resembles the glide one hears between the words 'go on' or between the words 'go over' when either of these pairs of words is slurred (as in $a\check{g}ac$ 'tree'). When yumuşak ge immediately follows a front vowel, a vowel formed in the front of the mouth $(e, i, \ddot{o}, \ddot{u})$: see Lesson 4), its sound is approximately that of y in 'yet' (as in diğer 'other').

3. Doubled consonants

The sound of a doubled consonant is prolonged well beyond that of the same consonant when single.

elli fifty eli the hand (objective)

4. The circumflex accent

The circumflex accent (^) may stand over the vowels a, i, and u (\hat{a} , \hat{i} , \hat{u}). It has two distinct functions.

a. Standing over the letter a which is preceded by g, k, or l ($g\hat{a}$, $k\hat{a}$, $l\hat{a}$), the circumflex indicates that a y sound is to be pronounced between the consonant and the following a. In the syllable $l\hat{a}$, the y sound is fainter than in the syllables $g\hat{a}$ and $k\hat{a}$.

gâvur heathen
kâr profit (compare kar 'snow') lâle tulip

b. Except in the syllables $g\hat{a}$, $k\hat{a}$, and $l\hat{a}$, the circumflex indicates that the vowel sound is to be prolonged. This is the case in the many (originally Arabic) adjectives ending in \hat{i} .

ŞamîDamascene (Şam 'Damascus')LübnanîLebanese (Lübnan 'the Lebanon')millînationaledebîliteraryiktisadîeconomic, economical

Sometimes the circumflex is used to distinguish between two words which, without it, would be spelled and pronounced identically.

Ali proper name (of a man) âli lofty, sublime

Occasionally a word beginning with ga, ka, or la has a long vowel in the first syllable but does not have in that syllable the y sound which the use of a circumflex $(g\hat{a}, k\hat{a}, l\hat{a})$ would indicate. This may be shown by doubling the a, e.g. kaatil 'murderer.' Compare katil 'murder.'

5. Spelling

Turkish spelling is phonetic, the same letter always indicating the same sound. Words borrowed from other languages are frequently spelled out phonetically.

Sevrole Chevrolet Cörcil Churchill

Note: Any sequence of vowel immediately followed by vowel is to be pronounced with a full stop between the two vowels. (The use of aa to indicate long a in a word like kaatil 'murderer' [see above, section 4b] is the sole exception to this rule.) Words containing the sequence vowel-vowel are always of non-Turkish origin. Some Turkish writers and presses use an apostrophe to show the full stop between the two vowels, but this is now very rare. The stop is always to be made, whether an apostrophe is used or not.

saat or sa'at hour, time: watch, clock Sait or Sa'it proper name (of a man)

(For other uses of the apostrophe, see Lesson 4.)

6. Syllabification

Turkish admits six syllable patterns (V=vowel; C=consonant).

V	o	he, she, it; that (demonstrative)
VC	ak	white
CV	ve	and
CVC	dağ	mountain
VCC	üst	top
CVCC	genç	young

Each syllable begins with a single vowel or with a single consonant. Borrowed words which begin with two consonants may undergo one of two changes.

a. A vowel is inserted between the two initial consonants

kıral king

b. A vowel is prefixed to the first consonant.

ispirto spirits, alcohol

c. With some borrowings, however, this does not occur.

kredi credit

7. Punctuation

Turkey's authors, editors, and publishers have not yet standardized punctuation. The period and question mark are ordinarily used as they are in English. A comma often indicates the end of the subject. Direct quotations may be shown by single or double quotation marks, by continental quotation marks, by dashes, or even by parentheses. Frequently, only the beginning of a quotation is shown. Often, a quotation is not indicated at all.

5. PROPER NAMES

of men		of women
Ahmet	Ali	Suat	Fahrünnisa
Mehmet	Erdoğan	Süheylâ	Selma
Sait		Mihri

Note 1: Mehmet is the Turkish form of the Arabic name Muḥammad. The full form (Muhammed) is used in Turkish only to indicate the prophet of Islam.

Note 2: In modern usage, Bay, placed before a man's full name, represents English 'Mr.'

Bay Mehmet Timuroğlu	Mr. Mehmet Timuroğlu
For the names of women, Bayan indicates	either 'Mrs.' or 'Miss.'
Bayan Selma Timuroğlu	Mrs. Selma Timuroğlu (or)
	Miss Selma Timuroğlu

In addition to this modern and official usage, there remains in everyday currency an older usage, dating from the time when Turks had not yet adopted last names. In this style of address, the word Bey placed after a man's given name represents English 'Mr.'

In the older usage the word Hanum placed after the given name (or names) represents English 'Mrs.' or 'Miss.'

inglish 'Mrs.' or 'Miss.'

Mihri Hanım Mrs. Mihri (or) Miss Mihri

Persons who continue to use the older forms regard them as being no less formal than the new forms.

1. Cardinal numbers

bir ev	one house, a house
bir kere	one time, one occurrence, once
bir defa	one time, one occurrence, once
iki ev	two houses, the two houses

Note: Turkish has no separate word for 'the' (the definite article). Hence every 'absolute' noun (i.e., the simple noun form with no suffix attached) may mean 'X' or 'the X.'

ev	house (or) the house	peynir ch	eese (or) the cheese
üç çocuk	(the) three children	sekiz hafta	(the) eight weeks
dört cami	(the) four mosques	dokuz fincan	(the) nine cups
beş cadde	(the) five streets	on kız	(the) ten girls
altı gece	(the) six nights	bin bir gece	(the) thousand and yedi gün	(the) seven days		one nights

Cardinal numbers are followed by singular nouns.

The cardinal numbers are:

bir	I	sekiz	8	on beş	15
iki	2	dokuz	9	on altı	16
üç	3	on	10	on yedi	17
dört	4	on bir	II	on sekiz	18

on bin	10	,000	(bir) mil	yar 1,000,000,00	00

2. 'One half'

There are two common words for 'one half.'

yarım, used when no other number is mentioned in the expression

yarım kilo	½ kilogram
beş yüz gram	500 grams
yarım kilometre	½ kilometer
beş yüz metre	500 meters
yarım saat	½ hour
otuz dakika	30 minutes

buçuk, used with numerals

bir buçuk saat	$1\frac{1}{2}$ hours on buçuk kilometre	10½ kilometers
iki buçuk kilo	2½ kilos

3. Kaç, çok, and az

Like the cardinal numbers, the 'counting words' kaç 'how much?' 'how many?' çok 'much,' 'many,' and az 'few, 'a little' are followed by singular nouns.

kaç lira?	how many liras?	kaç dolar?	how many dollars?
kaç kuruş?	how many kurus?	kaç kaşık	how many spoons
kaç para?	how much money?	şeker?	of sugar?

kaç elma?	how many apples?	az ev	few houses
çok ev	many houses,	az para	little money,
	lots of houses		not much money
çok şeker	much sugar,	çok az para	very little money
	lots of sugar	biraz şeker	a little sugar çok limon	many lemons,	birçok	a good many lots of lemons,	gazete	newspapers
	lots of lemon	az çok	more or less

4. Parça and tane

These two 'counting words' are to be distinguished from each other:

parça 'piece' (one part, section, segment, etc., of a whole);

tane 'piece' (the meaningless pidgin English counting word 'piece' as in 'one piece man,' 'one piece house,' i.e., 'one man,' 'one house')

Tane may be used or omitted after the cardinal numbers.

kaç parça ekmek?	how many pieces of bread? (For 'slice' use dilim.)
kaç tane ekmek?	how many 'breads?' how many loaves of bread?
kaç ev?	how many houses?
kaç tane ev?	how many houses?

Lesson 3

Position of Adjectives. Indefinite Article with Adjectives. Predicate Modifiers

I. Position of adjectives

büyük kız

(the) big girl küçük kız

(the) little girl

genç adam

(the) young man

yaşlı kadın

(the) old woman (yaşlı 'old,' of humans;

otherwise use eski)

When an adjective precedes a noun, it modifies that noun, as in English.

2. Indefinite article with adjectives

bir köpek

a dog; one dog

bir gün

a day; one day

bir elma

an apple; one apple

bir bardak su

a glass of water; one glass of water

büyük bir kız küçük bir kız a big girl a little girl

çok küçük bir kız

a very little girl

iki çok küçük kız

two very little girls

küçük güzel kız küçük güzel bir kız (the) little, pretty girl a little, pretty girl küçük ve güzel bir kız

a little and pretty girl

The word bir serves as the number 'one' and as the indefinite article 'a,' 'an.' When the indefinite article and one or more other adjectives modify one noun, Turkish reverses the English order. The adjective or adjectives come first, and the indefinite article immediately precedes the noun. When the word bir means 'one,' however, it precedes the adjective (or adjectives), as in English, e.g., büyük bir kız 'a big girl,' bir büyük kız 'one big girl.'

Note 1: Turkish sometimes uses bir with a plural noun. (See Lesson 4, section 5.)

Note 2: Bir may be omitted from a Turkish sentence in which the English would require the indefinite article. (See Lesson 14, section 1.)

3. Predicate modifiers

O kız uzun,
Bu kız kısa.
Küçük kız güzel.
Güzel kız küçük.
Bu küçük kız çok güzel.
Bu çok küçük kız güzel.

Bu kız çok küçük ve çok güzel.

Bir kız uzun, bir kız kısa.

Bu çay çok iyi. Güzel kız uzun, diğer kız kısa.

Bu iyi.

That girl is tall.
This girl is short.
The little girl is pretty.
The pretty girl is little.
This little girl is very pretty.

This very small girl is beautiful.

This girl is very tiny and very pretty.

One girl is tall, (and) one girl is short.

This tea is very good.

The pretty girl is tall; the other girl is short.

This is good.

In speech (and to a lesser degree in the formal written language), the third person forms, singular and plural, present tense of the Turkish verb 'to be' are not expressed. Hence a Turkish adjective in the predicate position (i.e., following the noun it modifies) expresses a complete sentence, e.g., O kiz uzun 'That girl (is) tall.'

Lesson 4

Definite Article. Adjective and Noun. Agglutination. Vowel Harmony. The Plural

küçük çocuk

(the) small child

Cocuk kücük.

(The) child (is) small.

büyük çocuk

(the) big child

Cocuk büvük.

(The) child (is) big.

Definite article

Turkish has no separate word equivalent to the English definite article 'the.' Hence any Turkish noun without suffixes (or with the plural suffix: see below, section 5) may be understood with or without 'the' as the sense requires.

bas head (or) the head kahve coffee (or) the coffee

Note: For the devices by which, in certain circumstances, Turkish specifies whether or not a noun is definite see Lesson 6, section 2.

2. Adjective and noun

When an adjective does not modify a noun, the adjective can become a substantive.

Bu genç çocuk güzel. (Genç is used as an attributive adjective.) 'This young child is pretty.' Bu anne genç. (Genç is used as a predicate adjective.) 'This mother is young.'

Bu genç güzel. (Genç is used as a substantive 'youth,' 'youngster.') 'This youngster is pretty.'

Such a word, when it is an adjective, takes no suffixes. Such a word, when it is a substantive, may take suffixes.

3. Agglutination

Turkish is said to be an agglutinative language because every element that is affixed to a word or to another element in order to convey meaning is a suffix. Turkish uses no prefixes, except for a few stereotyped borrowings from other languages.

4. Vowel harmony

The eight Turkish vowels are divided into two classes: (1) those formed toward the front of the mouth and (2) those formed toward the back. These classes are called front and back vowels, respectively.

FRONT VOWELS	BACK VOWELS
e	a
i	1
ö	0
ü	u

Note: The vowels \ddot{o} and o tend to occur only in the first syllable of an originally Turkish word. With few exceptions \ddot{o} and o do not appear in suffixes.

Each originally Turkish word tends to have all its vowels of the same class, all front or all back. This phenomenon is called vowel harmony. Foreign words borrowed by Turkish, but not entirely assimilated into the language, do not always entirely conform to the principle of vowel harmony. (See Lesson 6, section 2.)

When a suffix is to be added to a word, the final vowel of the word determines the class of vowel (front or back) in that suffix. Therefore, the final vowel is called the dominant vowel. If still another suffix is to be added, the final vowel of the preceding suffix is considered the dominant vowel.

5. The plural

ev	(the) house	fil	(the) elephant
evler	(the) houses	filler	(the) elephants
dağ	(the) mountain	yıl	(the) year
dağlar	(the) mountains	yıllar	(the) years

göl	(the) lake	gün	(the) day
göller	(the) lakes	günler	(the) days
top	(the) ball	pul	(the) stamp
toplar	(the) balls	pullar	(the) stamps

The Turkish plural is formed by the addition to a noun of the plural suffix, which appears as -ler after a front dominant vowel $(e, i, \ddot{o}, \ddot{u})$ and as -lar after a back dominant vowel (a, i, o, u). Thus the vowel of the plural suffix always conforms to the principle of vowel harmony.

The symbol V^2 denotes the variable vowel e/a. After a front dominant vowel V^2 is e; after a back dominant vowel, a. The plural suffix may be shown schematically as follows:

-1 V2 r

(In this notation, the hyphen indicates that what follows is a suffix, not a word. The hyphen is not written after the suffix, but suffixes may be added to other suffixes.)

DOMINANT VOWEL FRONT			DOMINANT VOWEL BACK
ev	house	evler	houses	dağ	mountain	dağlar	mountains
fil	elephant	filler	elephants	yıl	year	yıllar	years
göl	lake	göller	lakes	top	ball	toplar	balls
gün	day	günler	days	pul	stamp	pullar	stamps

NOTE I: Each noun in the above table, whether in its singular or plural form, is to be understood as being nominative or 'absolute' so long as it bears no other suffix; hence each may be understood with or without the English definite article, as the sense requires.

NOTE 2: A few writers and printers insert an apostrophe between a noun and its (first) suffix. This apostrophe does not alter the pronunciation. It is most frequently used after foreign words and after place-names.

The indefinite article of course has no plural.

bir ev a house evler houses (the houses)

A common word for 'some' is bazi (followed by a substantive with a plural suffix).

bir ev a house bazı evler some houses

Bazi may infrequently be used with the singular.

Bazı zaman sometimes

Bir may infrequently be used with the plural.

bir zamanlar once upon a time

1. Common infinitive

The common or normal infinitive is formed by adding the suffix $-m V^2 k$ to the simple verb. The simple verb (or 'naked' verb) is the singular imperative. (See Lesson 7, section 4.) The common infinitive is the verb form listed in a Turkish dictionary. Its meaning is rendered equally well in English, in the case of the common infinitive gelmek, by 'coming' (noun) or by 'to come.'

Common infinitives:

DOMINANT VOWEL FRONT		DOMINANT VOWEL BACK
gelmek	coming, to come	almak	taking, to take bilmek	knowing, to know	kırmak	breaking, to break (transitive)
görmek	seeing, to see	olmak	becoming, happening, to become, to happen gülmek	laughing, to laugh	bulmak	finding, to find

2. Variable consonants

As noted above, Turkish is an agglutinative language. It avoids prefixes. Every Turkish element which is affixed to a word (or to another element) is a suffix. When a suffix is added to a word (or to a preceding suffix), two sorts of consonant change may occur.

- a. The initial consonant of the newly added suffix may be altered.
- b. The final consonant of the preceding word (or suffix) may be altered.

Three variable consonants (or three consonant pairs) are involved in such changes. They are shown by these symbols:

$$t/d$$
 p/b ς/c

In each case, the first component of the symbol is a voiceless consonant (a consonant which is produced without vibration of the vocal cords). The second component is the corresponding voiced consonant. (A voiced consonant is produced with vibration of the vocal cords.) Turkish voiceless consonants are: c, f, h, k, p, s, s, t. All other Turkish consonants are voiced.

CONSONANT CHANGES

Type 1: Initial consonant of newly added suffix changes.

When a suffix begins with the variable consonant t/d or with the variable consonant c/c (no Turkish suffix begins with c/d), that initial variable consonant appears in its voiceless form when it is attached to a voiceless consonant, in its voiced form when it is attached to a directly preceding voiced sound (consonant or vowel).

süt	milk	sütçü	milkman
kahve	coffee	kahveci	coffeehouse keeper
ev	house	evde	in the house
ateş	fire	atește	in the fire

Type 2: Final consonant of preceding word (or suffix) changes.

When a word (or suffix) ends in one of the variable consonants, that final variable consonant appears in its voiceless form unless it is immediately followed by a suffixed vowel.

ağaç (the) tree
ağaçta in the tree ağacı the tree (objective definite)

Note 1: Many nouns of one syllable, and some nouns of more than one syllable, ending in c, p, or t, do not change the final consonant to c, b, or d before an immediately suffixed vowel. Such instances are often indicated in dictionaries as: top(-pu) 'ball'; et(-ti) 'meat'; sepet(-ti) 'basket'; $\ddot{u}c(-c\ddot{u})$ 'three.'

Note 2: The consonant change in verb stems occurs only in a limited number of verbs. Gitmek (gid-), and etmek (ed-) are the only prominent examples in which the shift does occur.

3. Past definite verb

The past definite verb forms denote action which really was or really has been completed in the past. The past definite forms are obtained by adding to the verb stem (the 'naked' verb, the common infinitive minus its suffix, -m V² k) the following endings.

SINGU	PLURAL
1st person	-t/d V4 m	-t/d V4 k
2nd person	-t/d V4 n	-t/d V4 n V4 z
3rd person	-t/d V ⁴	-t/d V4 1 V2 r

FRO	NT	BA	CK
When domin	ant vowel is	When domin	nant vowel is e or i	$V^4 = i$	a or i	$V^4 = i$
ö or ü	$V^4 = \ddot{u}$	o or u	$V^4 = u$

The symbol -t/d indicates that these suffixes begin with a variable consonant.

Study the verbs whose past definite forms are given below.

VERBS WHOSE DOMINANT VOWEL IS a

		verb stem ends in	ı
	VOICED	VOICELESS	VOWEL
	CONSONANT	CONSONANT	(VOICED)
common infinitive	almak	bakmak	anlamak
verb stem	al	bak	anla
meaning	taking,	looking,	understanding,
	to take	to look	to understand

1st person	aldım	baktım	anladım
2nd person	aldın	baktın	anladın
3rd person	aldı	baktı	anladı
plural
1st person	aldık	baktık	anladık
2nd person	aldınız	baktınız	anladınız
3rd person	aldılar	baktılar	anladılar

All past definite forms express action that really is finished, really was or has been completed in the past. Hence the first person singular past definite of almak, the form aldım (of the verb which means 'taking,' 'getting possession of,' 'receiving,' 'acquiring') may mean any or all of the following, depending upon the particular context in which aldım is used.

I took	I got	I received
I did take	I did get	I did receive
I have taken	I have got	I have received

In the same way, the second singular form, aldın, means that you (one person) really did complete or have completed the action of taking, getting, receiving, acquiring something. Among possible translations for aldın are:

you (singular) took you (singular) did take you (singular) have taken and so on for the words 'get,' 'acquire,' etc. The verb satın almak means 'to buy.'

NOTE SECOND PERSON SINGULAR AND PLURAL

The second person singular is used:

- a. when speaking to a child or an inferior
- b. as a token of familiarity or affection when speaking to an intimate
- c. rudely as an insult to an individual
- d. solemnly when addressing God or invoking a person who is dead

The second person plural is used:

- a. when speaking to more than one person
- b. as the normal, polite way to address one individual.

In the absence of an expressed subject, the third person singular form, ald, is assumed to have for its subject the pronoun o 'he,' 'she,' or 'it.'

Aldt. He (she, it) took (did take, has taken something), or He (she, it) got (did get, has gotten something), or the same shades of past definite meaning for the verb 'acquire.'

Aldı may of course have an expressed subject. Ahmet aldı. 'Ahmet got, took, received,' etc.

The first plural past definite form, aldık, not only rings all the changes noted above ('we really did take, have taken,' etc.). In addition, since the first person plural is frequently used to mean 'I' (a sort of polite and modest editorial 'we'), the word aldık may also, if the context requires, express all the meanings given above for the first singular form, aldım.

Aldınız indicates that you (one or more persons [see the note above]) in the past definitely did perform or have performed the action of almak—taking, getting, acquiring, etc.

Aldılar shows that they (two or more persons) really did perform or have performed that action.

The second verb in the table—bakmak—expresses the action of looking, staring, and (with proper suffixes on the substantives concerned) of looking after, caring for, examining, etc. Thus baktum baktum (Turkish repeats words for emphasis) means

I looked and looked.
I did look and look.
I have looked and looked.
etc.

The third verb—anlamak—expresses the idea of comprehending, understanding, catching on, getting the point, etc. Thus its third plural past definite form, anladular, may mean any of the following

They really did understand, realize, comprehend, etc. have understood, etc. understood, etc.

Note: For almak, bakmak, anlamak, and indeed for most Turkish verbs, it is very misleading to try to give one English word which is what the Turkish word 'means.' Instead, the student should attach to the Turkish verb, or noun, or adjective a basic idea which has many possible shades of expression in English.

Each of the three verbs in the above table has the dominant vowel a: almak with a final voiced consonant (al), bakmak with a final voiceless consonant (bak), and anlamak (anla), with a vowel, which is also a voiced sound.

Here follow verbs whose dominant vowels are e, i, u, \ddot{u} , o, and \ddot{o} . These tables are not complete: no exotic verbs are introduced simply for the sake of completion.

4. Agreement of subject and verb

Verb and subject agree in person and number. When the subject is a personal pronoun, the pronoun is not used unless special emphasis is desired.

normal expression	Geldim.	I came.
	Gördünüz.	You saw.
for emphasis	Ben geldim.	I came.
	Siz gördünüz.	You saw

With a third person plural subject which refers to animate beings, especially to humans, the verb is almost always in the third plural form, but may be third singular form.

Ahmet ve Mehmet geldiler. Gencler kostular. Ahmet and Mehmet came. The youths ran.

Rarely

Ahmet ve Mehmet geldi. Gencler kostu. Ahmet and Mehmet came. The youths ran.

In the case of a third plural subject which does not refer to animate beings, especially to humans, the situation is reversed: the verb usually is in the third singular form, but may be third plural form.

> Günler geçti. Atlar koştu.

(The) days passed. The horses ran.

Sometimes

Atlar koştular.

The horses ran.

Note: Any of the above past definite forms may, of course, express any shade of action which really was, or has been, completed in the past. See Lesson 5, section 3.

Lesson 6

Verbs of the Type Gitmek (Gider).

Objective Definite

- 1. Geldi gitti.
- 2. İstanbulu gördük.
- 3. Kahveyi bu sabah satın aldım.
- 4. Ahmedi dün gördüm.
- 5. Köpek güzel.
- 6. Köpeği kim gördü?
- 7. Ben dün bir köpek gördüm.
- 8. Yalnız o adamı gördünüz.
- 9. Sizi gördüler.
- 10. Kaç kilo şeker aldı?

He's come (and) gone. (He came [and] went.)

We've seen (been to) Istanbul.

I bought the coffee this morning.

I saw Ahmet yesterday.

The dog's a fine one.

Who's seen the dog?

I saw a dog yesterday.

You saw only that man.

They saw you.

How many kilos of sugar did he (or she) buy?

1. Verbs of the type gitmek (gider)

A few verbs—of which gitmek (gider), 'to go,' and etmek (eder), the auxiliary verb meaning 'to do,' are the most important—have stems which end in the variable consonant t/d (for gitmek, the stem is git or gid; for etmek, et or ed).

When a suffix whose own initial sound is also a variable consonant is added to a verb stem of this limited type, both the final variable consonant of the verb stem and also the initial variable consonant of the suffix appear in their voiceless forms.

A case in point is the past definite. The forms for gitmek and etmek are singular

1st person 2nd person 3rd person	ettim ettin etti	gittim gittin gitti	I went, did go, have gone, etc.
plural
1st person	ettik	gittik
2nd person	ettiniz	gittiniz
3rd person	ettiler	gittiler

When, however, to a verb stem of this type there is added a suffix whose initial sound is a vowel, the final variable consonant of the verb stem appears in its voiced form. The third singular form of the general verb (see Lesson 11, section 2) illustrates this variation, e.g., for gitmek, the third singular general is gider; for etmek, it is eder.

Verbs of the type gitmek (gider) are sometimes shown in dictionaries by indicating the third singular general form in parentheses, after the common infinitive.

2. The objective definite

The objective definite suffix has a double function. It simultaneously indicates (a) that the substantive to which it is attached is the direct object of a verb, and (b) that the same substantive is definite. (A substantive is definite when it is the proper name of a person, place, or thing, or when, in English, the corresponding word is preceded by 'the,' a word indicating possession, or by a demonstrative adjective.) Unless the substantive in question meets the second of these conditions (i.e., is definite), it does not take this suffix, even though it is the direct object of a verb.

Hence, the objective suffix can be called a definite article that is used only with the objective. When attached to a word that ends in a consonant, this suffix is simply the variable vowel V^4 , (i, i, \ddot{u}, u) . When this suffix is attached to a word that ends in a vowel, however, a consonant buffer is needed between the word's terminal vowel and the V^4 of the suffix because Turkish abhors the sequence vowel-vowel (see Lesson I, section 5). With the objective definite suffix, the buffer consonant employed is y. Hence the full notation for the objective definite suffix is

-(y) V⁴

(In this notation, the hyphen shows that what follows is a suffix; the parentheses show that the y is a buffer consonant, employed only when it is needed; and the symbol V^4 indicates the four-variable vowel i-i-i-u.)

ABSOLUTE FORM

(The substantive may be (a) subject, definite or indefinite; or (b) object, indefinite.)

OBJECTIVE DEFINITE FORM

(The substantive is both (a) object and also (b) definite.)

gece	night	geceyi
geceler		geceleri
ev	house	evi
evler		evleri
efendi	gentleman, sir	efendiyi
efendiler		efendileri
fil	elephant	fili
filler		filleri
Mösyö	Monsieur	Mösyöyü
Mösyöler		Mösyöleri
göl	lake	gölü
göller		gölleri
sözcü	spokesman	sözcüyü
sözcüler		sözcüleri
gün	day	günü
günler		günleri
baba	father	babayı
babalar		babaları
dağ	mountain	dağı
dağlar		dağları
halı	rug	halıyı
halılar		halıları
yıl	year	yılı
yıllar		yılları
bando	band (musical)	bandoyu
bandolar		bandoları
top	ball	topu
toplar		topları
kutu	box	kutuyu
kutular		kutuları
pul	stamp	pulu
pullar		pulları

The sequence in which suffixes are added must always be learned by observation. In this case, for example, the plural suffix precedes the objective definite suffix. The objective definite is frequently used where English does not use a definite article (although English does, in these instances, convey the idea of definiteness).

İzmiri gördük. We have seen Izmir. Bizi gördüler. They saw us.

Many words in common use (but not of Turkish origin) do not conform to vowel harmony, but are followed by front-voweled suffixes despite the presence of the back dominant vowel. This is sometimes shown in dictionaries in the following manner:

saat (saati) hour, time; watch, clock hal (hali) circumstance, situation, condition

The form in parentheses is the objective definite.

3. Variable consonants followed by objective definite

In the case of words which end in a c, p, or t, the terminal consonant of some nouns of one syllable and most nouns of more than one syllable assumes its voiced form before any immediately following vowel (see Lesson 5, section 2). This holds true with the objective definite suffix.

ABSOLI	UTE FORM	OBJECTIVE DEFINITE FORM
Ahmet	man's name	Ahmedi
Ahmetler		Ahmetleri
Mehmet	man's name	Mehmedi
Mehmetler		Mehmetleri
sahip	owner, master	sahibi
sahipler		sahipleri
ağaç	tree	ağacı
ağaçlar		ağaçları
dört	four	dördü
dörtler		dörtleri

Such words are shown in dictionaries with the objective definite form in parentheses, following the absolute form.

dört (dördü) four sahip (sahibi) owner, master

4. Doubled consonants followed by objective definite

Some originally non-Turkish words that in the original language end in a doubled consonant—for example, the Arabic word 'haqq'—in their Turkish guise tend to drop the second consonant except when a vowel is directly suffixed. In that event, the doubled consonant reappears.

hak (hakkı)

right, truth; God

5. 'Ayn followed by objective definite

Many words which Turkish has borrowed from Arabic contained—in the original Arabic form—the characteristic Semitic consonant 'ayn (¿). If any trace of the sound of this consonant remains in modern Turkish pronunciation, it is simply a full stop in the breath.

Turkish spelling does not indicate an original initial 'ayn.

Ali, man's name (Arabic 'Alî)

Turkish spelling may or may not indicate an original medial 'ayn.

sanat or san'at 'art,' 'craft' (Arabic 'san'ah')

Of these two possibilities, the first (sanat) may be pronounced with no stop in the breath; the second (san'at), with a full stop, indicated by the apostrophe.

Turkish spelling (and pronunciation) may or may not indicate an original final 'ayn. This is especially true when a vowel is directly suffixed to the word in question. Cami 'mosque' with the objective definite may appear as camii or as camiyi.

6. Final k followed by objective definite

Polysyllables in final k 'soften' that k to a \check{g} before an immediately suffixed vowel.

köpek (köpeği)

dog

elektrik (elektriği)

electricity

ayak (ayağı) bardak (bardağı) foot drinking glass

Most monosyllables in final k do not soften the k to a \check{g} before an immediately following vowel.

ok (oku)

The word çok is an exception.

çok (çoğu)

much, many; lots (of)

7. Nouns of the type oğul (oğlu) followed by objective definite

Although Turkish admits a syllable of the pattern VCC (see Lesson I, section 6), it frequently prefers to avoid the sequence consonant-consonant at the end of the final syllable of a substantive. Hence several nouns—some of them originally Turkish (oğul 'son') and some of them borrowed (sehir 'city' from Persian 'shahr')—whose absolute pattern would end with VCC, insert an 'unstable' vowel between the two final consonants. When an immediately following vowel is suffixed, however, the 'unstable' vowel drops out.

OBJECTIVE DEFINITE FORM
oğlu oğulları şehri şehirleri

Nouns of the type oğul (oğlu) are so indicated in dictionaries.

beni

2nd person	sen	seni
3rd person	0	onu

ist person	biz	bizi
2nd person	siz	sizi
3rd person	onlar	onları

Note that the buffer consonant with the third singular is n rather than the usual y, and that n precedes the plural suffix in the third plural forms.

Sometimes a plural suffix is used with the first and second plural forms.

bizler we sizler you

2. Interrogative pronouns

		OBJECTIV	E DEFINITE
ABSOLUTE FORM		FC	ORM
kim?	who?	kimi?	whom?
ne?	what?	neyi?	what?

These words sometimes take plural suffixes.

kimler neler

Note 1: Ne is sometimes an adjective.

ne zaman? when? (what time?)

Note 2: Ne is sometimes exclamatory.

ne güzel! how lovely!

3. Demonstratives

ABSOLUTE FORM		OBJECTIVE DEFINITE FORM
singular
ist person	bu	this	bunu
2nd person	şu	that	şunu
3rd person	0	that	onu
plural
1st person	bunlar	these	bunları
2nd person	şunlar	those	şunları
3rd person	onlar	those	onları

Note that o 'that' is the same as o 'he,' 'she,' 'it.'

The basic distinction between su 'that' and o 'that' is: su refers to some thing, person, etc., that, although at some distance from the speaker, is still within sight and can be indicated by a gesture; o refers to some thing, person, etc., that is usually not in sight; su frequently means 'the following,' 'as follows.'

The demonstratives are adjectives when they modify a following noun, pronouns when used alone. As adjectives they take no suffixes. As pronouns they take suffixes. (Note the buffer n.)

From the demonstratives are formed the words

böyle in this fashion, thussöyle in that fashion, as followsövle in that fashion

These words may be used adverbially or adjectivally.

Böyle oldu. It happened in this fashion. böyle bir gün a day like this

4. The imperative

The Turkish imperative includes two persons.

- a. the second person, singular and plural, the individual (or individuals) to whom one gives a command. '(you) come here!'
- b. the third person, singular and plural, the individual or individuals about whom a sort of command is given. 'Let him come!' 'Let them take!'

'Please' is lûtfen.

The imperative suffixes are

singular

2nd person, Form I verb stem without suffix 2nd person, Form II verb stem plus (y) V⁴ n verb stem plus s V⁴ n

plural

2nd person verb stem plus (y) V⁴ n V⁴ z 3rd person verb stem plus s V⁴ n 1 V² r

singular	gelmek to come	almak to take	gitmek to go	istemek to want, wish
2nd person, Form I	gel	al	git	iste
2nd person, Form II	gelin	alın	gidin	isteyin
3rd person	gelsin	alsın	gitsin	istesin

plural

2nd person geliniz alınız gidiniz isteyiniz 3rd person gelsinler alsınlar gitsinler istesinler

The use of the second person singular and of the second plural has been presented (see Lesson 5, section 3).

In the second singular imperative, Form I (the simple verb stem) is ordinarily used. Form II (with the suffix -(y) V^4 n) expresses a degree of politeness between the familar Form I and the formal second plural. It is not frequently used, the second plural imperative or the second plural general (aorist) are preferred instead (see Lesson II, section 2).

5. Word order

Word order in a formal Turkish sentence usually is

- a. subject (unless the subject is an unexpressed personal pronoun)
- b. object or complement (a pronoun object whose sense is clear is often left out where English would always express the object)
- c. verb.

When the sentence includes an indirect object (shown by the dative suffix: see Lesson 8, section 2), the indirect object may precede or follow the direct object.

Generally speaking, the word immediately before the verb is the word whose position in the sentence gives it the greatest importance.

A comma frequently follows the subject.

Lesson 8

Nere*, Bura*, Ora*. Dative, Locative, and Ablative.
Fractions, Calendar, The Word -d V²

I. Paravi nerede buldunuz?

2. Kutuda buldum.

3. Parayı kime verdiniz?

4. Onu Ahmede verdim.

5. Paravı kimden aldınız?

6. Mehmetten aldık.

Where did you find the money?

I found (it) in the box.

To whom did you give the money?

I gave it to Ahmet.

From whom did you get the money?

We got it from Mehmet.

I. Nere*, Bura*, Ora*

In the English sentences

a.
Where are you going?

I went there.

They came here.

Where is she?
We were there.

He is here.

Where did he come from? He came from there.

each of the words 'where,' 'there,' and 'here' expresses three distinct ideas.

a. place towards which b. place in which c. place from which

In Turkish, these three distinct ideas are indicated by distinct suffixes (the dative, locative, and ablative suffixes), and the three Turkish words nere* 'where?' (interrogative), bura* 'here,' 'this place,' and ora* 'there,' 'that place' themselves take those suffixes.

The asterisks with *nere, *bura, and *ora indicate that the absolute forms (the forms with no suffix) of these words do not occur in modern literary Turkish.

2. Dative suffix -(y) V²

The suffix -(y) V² denotes motion toward a point, motion through space or motion through time.

When it is attached to a word which ends in a variable consonant, that consonant assumes its voiced form.

ağaç(the) treeağacato (the) treeağaçlar(the) treesağaçlarato (the) trees

In polysyllables, the dative suffix 'softens' a final k to \check{g} .

çocuk(the) childçocuğato (the) childçocuklar(the) childrençocuklarato (the) children

With such verbs as vermek 'to give,' the dative suffix expresses the indirect object.

Kutuyu Ahmede verdi. He gave the box to Ahmet.

The dative suffix also denotes the recipient of the action of many verbs.

Ona güldü. He laughed at it.

gülmek to laugh, laugh at (with dative)

Bize baktılar. They looked at us. They looked after us.

bakmak to look at (with dative), to look after (with dative)

Verbs which govern a dative suffix on a preceding substantive are so noted in some dictionaries.

Another common function of the dative suffix is to express cause.

neye, alternative and more common form: niye fo for what? why?

3. Locative suffix -t/d V²

This suffix -t/d V² denotes location at a point, a point in space or in time. When it is attached to a word ending in a variable consonant, that final variable consonant assumes its voiceless form as does the initial variable consonant of the suffix.

ağaç (the) tree
ağaçta at (the) tree in (the) tree ağaçlar (the) trees
ağaçlarda in (the) trees at (the) trees

4. Ablative suffix -t/d V2 n

This suffix -t/d V² n denotes motion away from a point, a point in space or in time. It affects a preceding variable consonant as does the locative suffix.

ağaç (the) tree
ağaçtan from (the) tree
ağaçlar (the) trees
ağaçlardan from (the) trees

Principal meanings of the ablative suffix include

a. cause

ondan from that, because of that, therefore neden from what? why?

b. composition

taştan from stone (taş), made out of stone

taştan bir ev a stone house

c. the agent of the passive (see Lesson 21, section 2)

d. comparison (see Lesson 12, section 4)

e. the recipient of the action of such verbs as bahsetmek (the auxiliary verb etmek 'to do,' may be written as an enclitic, especially after a monosyllable), 'to speak of, about' (with ablative), 'to discuss' with ablative). Verbs which govern an ablative suffix on a preceding substantive are so noted in some dictionaries.

Onlardan çok bahsettik. We talked a lot about them.

We discussed them at length.

f. an adverbial sense

eskiden of old, in olden times, formerly

Note such expressions as birdenbire suddenly (lit. 'from one to one') doğrudan doğruya directly, straightaway

(lit. 'from straight to straight')

5. Dative, locative, and ablative forms of nere*, bura*, ora*, the personal pronouns, the interrogatives, and the demonstratives nere*, bura*, ora*, sura* nere* what place? nerede at what place nereye to where? nereden from where?

bura*	this place	orada	at that place
buraya	to here	oradan	from there burada	at this place	şura*	that place buradan	from here	şuraya	to there ora*	that place	şurada	at that place
oraya	to there	şuradan	from there

The above words sometimes take the plural suffix, e.g., buralarda 'in these parts.'

7. Calendar

Salı günü on Tuesday bu ay this month

8. The word d V2

This word must be distinguished from the locative suffix $(-t/d V^2)$; see Lesson 8, section 3).

The word d V² ('also,' 'too,' 'for X's part,' 'in X's turn'), although it is an independent word, conforms in vowel harmony to the preceding word.

Erdoğan da geldi. Erdoğan came, too. evde de also in the house garajlarda da in (the) garages, too.

Repeated, d V2 means 'both . . . and'

I. Negative verb (-m V2)

The negative sign (or particle or syllable) is -m V². It is attached directly to the verb stem, and other suffixes are added to it.

COMMON INFINITIVE

2. Interrogative particle (m V⁴)

Turkish possesses a spoken question mark, the interrogative particle m V⁴. Although it conforms in vowel harmony to the preceding word, this interrogative sign is not suffixed but is an independent word to which other suffixes may be added.

The syllable before the interrogative sign receives a distinct stress accent. There is no interrogative form of the infinitive.

PAST DEFINITE INTERROGATIVE VERB FORMS

buldum mu?	istedim mi?
buldun mu?	istedin mi?
buldu mu?	istedi mi?
bulduk mu?	istedik mi?
buldunuz mu?	istediniz mi?

4. Negative expressions

The word ne, in addition to being the interrogative 'what?' and an exclamatory word 'how very!' (ne güzel! 'how lovely!'; ne büyük! 'how large!'), also has a negative use: ne ... ne 'neither ... nor.' When ne ... ne appears in a negative expression, the verb is positive.

ne sen ne ben neither you nor I

Ne sen gittin, ne ben (gittim). Neither you nor I went.

Ne Ahmedi ne Mehmedi gördüm. I saw neither Ahmet nor Mehmet.

Note: Ne sometimes serves as an interrogative (ne zaman? 'what time?' 'when?'), but the usual interrogative is hangi 'which (one)?'

hangi gün? which day? what day? hangi kız? which girl? what girl?

Hiç means 'none,' 'nothing.' Hiç bir means 'not a.' With these negative words, a negative verb is used.

Hiç bir şey istemedi. He didn't want anything.

Hiç also means 'never.'

Kız hiç gülmedi. The girl never laughed. The girl didn't laugh at all.

Hiç gitmedi mi? Didn't he go at all? Did he never go? Didn't he ever go?

With a positive interrogative verb, hiç means 'ever.'

1. The possessive construction

In possession, two elements are involved: A—the possessor; and B—what is possessed.

A B B A

John's book the book of John

In Turkish, the two substantives (A and B) are 'welded' into a grammatical relationship. They always stand in the order A—B. The first substantive A (the possessor) is here termed 'first member.' The second substantive B (the thing possessed) is termed the 'second member.'

The essential element which always joins the two members is a suffix added to the second member. This is here called the possessive suffix.

Still another suffix may be essential to the possessive construction. This suffix is added to the first member and is called the possessive definite suffix.

Hence the technical terms which the student should bear in mind in order to understand the possessive construction are:

1. first member	possessor (A), to this a suffix may be added
2. second member	thing possessed (B), to this a suffix must be added
possessive definite suffix	suffix which may be added to first member
4. possessive suffix	suffix which must be added to second member
5. possessive construction	possessor (A), thing possessed (B), and the suffixes as required by the situation.

Those possessive constructions whose first members bear the possessive definite suffix are here called Type I. Those possessive constructions whose first members bear no possessive definite suffix are called Type II. Ordinarily, no word may intervene between the first and second members of a Type II construction. Words may intervene between the members of a Type I construction.

2. Possessive definite suffix: -(n) V4 n

This suffix -(n) V⁴ n is added directly to the singular or plural. Its meaning is that of English 's attached to a definite substantive, but this suffix is not the essential element in the Turkish expression of possession. Instead, it shows that the possessor is definite.

ev	(the) house	halı	(the) rug
evin	the house's	halının	the rug's
evlerin	the houses'	halıların	the rugs'
ayak	(the) foot	bu	this (substantive) ayağın	the foot's	bunun	of this ayakların	the feet's	bunların	of these

The pronoun forms are

benim (no	ote the first person	bizim (no	te the first person su	ffix) my	suff	ix) our senin	your	sizin	your onun	his, her, its	onların	their

The buffer consonant with su 'water' is y rather than n.

su	(the) water	sular	(the) water(s)
suyun	the water's	suların	the waters'

3. Possessive suffixes

There is a possessive suffix for each person, singular and plural. That of the third person singular is -(s) V^4 ; that of the third person plural is -1 V^2 r i/1. These third person possessive suffixes translate (awkwardly) as 'of him,' 'of her,' 'of it,' 'of them.'

The possessive suffixes for all persons are

singular

1st person	-(V4) m	of me
2nd person	-(V4) n	of you
3rd person	-(s) V ⁴	of him, etc.

plural

1st person	-(V4) m V4 z	of us
2nd person	-(V4) n V4 z	of you
3rd person	-1 V ² r i/1	of them

Note: When an originally Arabic noun with a final 'ayn (see Lesson 6, section 5) receives a third singular possessive suffix, the result may be

camii	mosque of him
(or) camisi	mosque of him (This form is more in vogue.)

4. Types I and II possessive constructions

i.e., (the) garden(s) of the children

FIRST MEMBER SECOND MEMBER cocuğun bahcesi of the child, the child's (the) garden of him i.e., (the) garden of the child сосиўип bahceleri of the child, the child's (the) gardens of him i.e., (the) gardens of the child cocukların bahceleri of the children, the children's garden(s) of them

Note that this last example is ambiguous. The word bahçeleri may be the singular (bahçe) plus the third plural possessive suffix (-leri) required by the first member (cocukların), i.e., bahçe-leri. If so, the words cocukların bahçeleri mean '(the) garden of the children.' But the word bahçeleri may also be the plural (bahçeler) plus the third plural possessive suffix (-leri) required by the first member (cocukların). Two plural suffixes never come on the same noun: hence the logically expectable bahçe-ler-leri does not occur. Thus cocukların bahçeleri may mean both

(the) garden of the children (the) gardens of the children

The ambiguity may be resolved in one of two ways: the context is left to show whether one or more gardens is intended; a singular possessive suffix is given the second member, even though the first member is plural: çocukların bahçesi, '(the) garden of the children,' in which 'garden' is indubitably singular.

FIRST MEMBER

child (or) children (the) garden of him, (the) garden of them

i.e., (the) child-garden, children-garden, kindergarten, children's park

i.e., (the) child-garden, children-garden, kindergarten, children's park, playground

SECOND MEMBER

child (or) children (the) gardens of him, (the) gardens of them i.e., (the) child-gardens, children-gardens, kindergartens, playgrounds

A comparison of the two types of possessive construction

I. cocuğun bahçesi (the) garden of the child
II. cocuk bahçesi (the) child-garden demonstrates the essential difference in meaning between the two types. That difference turns on the definiteness or indefiniteness of the first member.

In Type I the first member is always definite. Thus the possessive definite suffix, like the objective definite suffix (see Lesson 6, section 2), may be called a sort of definite article in a specialized use. The student should note, however, that by express stipulation the first member of a Type I possessive construction may become indefinite.

iyi bir çocuğun büyük bir bahçesi a large garden of a (or one) good child

and iyi çocuğun büyük bahçesi (the) large garden of the good child

In a Type II possessive construction the first member is not definite. Instead, as in the possessive construction cocuk bahçesi, a singular first member frequently is used collectively or generically—here in the sense of any and all children. This phenomenon, the fact that a singular may have a generic or collective (plural) meaning, is very frequent in Turkish.

Type II serves where English would use an adjective of nationality.

Türk lisanı (the) Turkish language Türk alfabesi (the) Turkish alphabet

5. Personal pronouns as members of possessive constructions

A possessive construction whose first member is a personal pronoun is Type I because personal pronouns are definite. The personal pronoun (the first member) need not be expressed unless it is desired to emphasize the possessor's identity.

bahçem my garden benim bahçem my garden

In informal speech incomplete possessive constructions of the first and second person (possessive suffix omitted) are not infrequent.

bizim bahçe our garden (for bahçemiz) sizin bahçe your garden (for bahçeniz)

6. Possessive complexes

A possessive construction (i.e., the complete construction with all its suffixes) may itself serve as first or second member of another possessive construction. Such a possessive relationship—one or both of whose members may themselves consist of one (or more) possessive constructions—is called a possessive complex.

TYPE I

FIRST MEMBER

SECOND MEMBER

(benim) çocuğumun

bahçesi

(of me) of the child of me

(the) garden of him

i.e., (the) garden of the child of me, (the) garden of my child, my child's garden

The Type I unit (benim çocuğum) becomes the first member of the Type I complex. The first member (çocuğum) must have a possessive definite suffix: çocuğumun.

TYPE II

FIRST MEMBER

SECOND MEMBER

Ankara

çocuk bahçesi

of Ankara

(the) kindergarten (of it)

i.e., (the) Ankara Kindergarten or Nursery School (name of an institution)

The Type II unit (cocuk bahçesi) becomes the second member of the possessive complex (Ankara cocuk bahçesi). The second member of the Type II complex (the unit cocuk bahçesi) already has a possessive suffix (bahçe-si). No word may bear more than one possessive suffix. Hence the -si of bahçesi does double duty, serving (a) as possessive suffix for the Type II possessive construction cocuk bahçesi, and (b) as possessive suffix for the possessive complex, Ankara cocuk bahçesi, '(the) Ankara Kindergarten.'

Compare

Ankaranın

çocuk bahçesi

of Ankara

(the) kindergarten of it

i.e., Ankara's kindergarten

Ankaranın

çocuk bahçeleri

of Ankara

(the) kindergartens of it i.e., Ankara's kindergartens

İstanbul Caddesi Ankara Bulyarı Istanbul Avenue
Ankara Boulevard

İstanbulun güzel caddeleri

Istanbul's lovely avenues

Ankaranın büyük bulvarları

Ankara's great boulevards

Some expressions (mostly place-names) which were originally Type II possessive constructions tend to lose the possessive suffix.

Arnavutköy Albanian Village (name of a part of Istanbul); older form, Arnavutköyü

Other place-names always retain the possessive suffix

Beyoğlu Bey's-son (name of the downtown section of Istanbul)

In the case of a noun whose absolute form ends in a vowel, note the 'disappearance' of the third person possessive suffix when its possessive form becomes a member of a possessive complex.

yatak odası	bedroom
(benim) yatak odam	my bedroom
(senin) yatak odan	your bedroom onun yatak odası	his bedroom
(bizim) yatak odamız	our bedroom
(sizin) yatak odanız	your bedroom onların yatak odası	their bedroom
(benim) yatak odalarım	my bedrooms
(senin) yatak odaların	your bedrooms
onun yatak odaları	his bedrooms
(bizim) yatak odalarımız	our bedrooms
(sizin) yatak odalarınız	your bedrooms
onların yatak odaları	their bedrooms

7. The word sahip in possessive constructions

The student should avoid the logical pitfall involved when the word sahip (sahibi 'owner,' 'possessor,' 'master') is used in possessive constructions. Despite its meaning, this word is not the first member (possessor), but the second member (thing possessed).

8. Suffixes added to a possessive suffix

When other suffixes are added to the possessive suffixes, no phonetic buffer is needed after the possessive suffixes of the first and second persons.

Bahcemi gördüler.

Otomobillerimi istediler.

(senin) Kitabını aldılar.

(senin) Kitaplarını okudular.

Paramızı buldular.

Evlerimizi gördüler.

(sizin) Cocuğunuzu gördük.

They saw my garden. They wanted my cars. They took your book.

They read your books.

They found our money.

They have seen our houses.

We saw your child. He saw your children.

When other suffixes are added to a third person possessive suffix, singular or plural, a buffer consonant is needed. This buffer—n—is inserted not only when required by an immediately suffixed vowel, but also before a following locative or ablative suffix.

Bahçesini gördüler.

(onun) Bahçelerini gördüler.

Onların bahçesini gördük.

Onların bahçelerini gördük.

Study the following examples.

I found Ahmed's father's five liras in your little son's pockets.

9. Kendi

The word kendi 'self' is much used with possessive constructions.

1. to mean 'own' (modifies second member)

Infinitives

The common infinitive (see Lesson 5, section 1) seldom has suffixes added to it. The light infinitive—the common infinitive minus its final k—frequently receives suffixes.

LIGHT	INFINITIVE
	POSITIVE	1	NEG	ATIVE
	U	oming oing	0	not coming not going
(onun) git	mesi			going; the fact that he one), does, or will go (onun) git	memesi			not going; the fact that he one), does, or will not go babanızın	Ankaraya gitme	esi	that your	going to Ankara; the fact father did go, has gone, will go to Ankara
annenizin evimize gelmemesi		your mother's not coming to our house (to us); the fact that your mother didn't, hasn't, doesn't, or won't come to our house
The lig	ht infinitive may	y be used a	as a modifier.
				1 1 / 011 10

dolma kalem fountain pen (dolmak 'to fill')

With the ablative suffix, the light infinitive means 'without (doing so and so),' 'without (having done so and so).'

Kitabı dün aldı, Bu sabah onu He took the book yesterday. This okumadan bana verdi. morning, without having read it, he gave (it) to me.

Note: Some grammarians discuss this under the heading of a separate suffix, -madan/-meden.

The light infinitive is usually used when an infinitive is the object of another verb form.

O okumayı çok sever. He greatly likes reading (really loves to read).

Note: The verbs istemek 'wish,' 'want,' 'need' and bilmek 'know' frequently take a common infinitive as object.

Gitmek istedi. He wanted to go. Gelmek bilmedi. He never arrived.

The common infinitive, without suffixes, may be the subject of the verb 'to be,' or the subject of a predicate adjective when 'be' is not expressed.

Oraya gitmek güç(tür). To go there (is) difficult. compare Oraya gitmemiz güç(tür). Our going there (is) difficult.

For the syllable in parenthesis (tür) see the forms of the verb 'to be,' Lesson 14, section 1.

The English 'to mean' is expressed by the common infinitive demek plus the (usually unexpressed present tense of the) verb 'to be.'

Bu ne demek(tir)? What does this mean? (This [is] to say what?)

Ingilizcede girl 'kız' demek(tir). In English 'girl' means kız. The English 'that is to say' is also expressed by demek.

Demek, bunu bilmediler. That is to say, they didn't know this.

The infinitives—common or light—may govern the objective definite suffix, or other appropriate suffixes, on preceding substantives, just as do finite verb forms.

Ankaraya gitmemeniz iyi oldu. The fact that you didn't go to Ankara turned out to be a good thing.

The common infinitive with the suffix -s i/1 z i/1 n means 'without (doing so and so),' 'without having (done so and so).'

Ahmet, kitabımı okumaksızın Ahmet went to Ankara without reading Ankaraya gitti. (without having read) my book.

The common infinitive with the following combination of two suffixes—
(1) the ablative suffix and (2) the conditional suffix (see Lesson 20, section 4)— means 'rather than (doing so and so).'

Sinemaya gitmektense okumayı Rather than go to the movies, I tercih ettim. preferred to read.

2. General verbs

The general verb forms express what is always true and hence timeless (aorist). This is the time value of these English verbs.

Mice like cheese.

Children will fight.

POSITIVE

The positive general verb forms are made by adding these suffixes to the verb stem.

	SINGULAR	PLURAL
Ist	-(GV) r V ⁴ m	-(GV) r V4 z
2nd	-(GV) r s V4 n	-(GV) r s V ⁴ n V ⁴ z
3rd	-(GV) r	-(GV) r l V ² r

The symbol GV represents the 'general verb form vowel' (general vowel).

- a. A verb whose stem ends in a vowel takes no general vowel.
- b. A monosyllabic verb stem ending in a consonant takes V² as the general vowel. This 'rule,' however, has many exceptions. General vowels are sometimes shown in dictionaries thus:

almak (alır)	to take bulmak (bulur)	to find görmek (görür)	to see gelmek (gelir)	to come

c. A polysyllabic verb stem ending in a consonant takes V⁴ as the general vowel.

The general verb forms express general validity, and habitual or customary action. Since what is always true will also be true in the future, the general also may be used as a future tense. It may also be used to express an intention on the speaker's part, a promise of sorts.

The positive general forms are

	SINGULAR		PLURAL
ıst	giderim	I go, always go, will go	gideriz
2nd	gidersin		gidersiniz
3rd	gider		giderler

The positive interrogative forms are

SINGULAR		PLURAL
ıst	gider miyim?	gider miyiz?
2nd	gider misin?	gider misiniz?
3rd	gider mi?	giderler mi?

In the second person plural, these forms are the most polite of all ways to express a command in Turkish.

Lûtfen, kitabınızı bana verir misiniz?

Will you please give me your book? (or) Please give me your book.

NEGATIVE

The negative general verb forms are made by suffixing to the (positive) verb stem these suffixes

	SINGULAR	PLURAL
ıst	-m V ² m	-m V ² y i/1 z
2nd	-m V ² z s i/1 n	-m V ² z s i/1 n i/1 z
3rd	-m V ² z	-m V ² z 1 V ² r
Ist	gitmem	gitmeyiz
2nd	gitmezsin	gitmezsiniz
3rd	gitmez	gitmezler

The negative interrogative general verb forms are

SINGULAR		PLURAL
Ist	gülmez miyim?	gülmez miyiz?
2nd	gülmez misin?	gülmez misiniz?
3rd	gülmez mi?	gülmezler mi?

The third singular positive and negative general verb forms (the general participles, see Lesson 16, section 2) are used, the one immediately following the other, to express the idea of 'as soon as.'

Buraya gelir gelmez parayı alınız.	As soon as you come (get) here, take the money.

Ahmet buraya gelir gelmez parayı	Let Ahmet take the money as soon
alsın.	as he gets here.

Buraya gelir gelmez parayı aldım.	As soon as I got here, I took the money.

Ahmet buraya gelir gelmez	As soon as Ahmet got here,
Mehmet parayı aldı.	Mehmet took the money.

NOTE: ister istemez

ister istemez	want to or not, willy-nilly
İster istemez, gitsin.	Let him go, whether he wants to or not.

1. Past general verbs

There is a past general verb meaning 'used to (do so and so).' It is formed by adding to the third singular positive general form, the suffixes of the past forms of the verb 'to be' (see Lesson 14, section 1), as follows (the vowel in this suffix is V4).

singular
ıst	giderdim I	used to go	gitmezdim	I used not to go
2nd	giderdin		gitmezdin
3rd	giderdi		gitmezdi

2. Future verbs

The future verb forms express a definite intention which the speaker holds as of the time he speaks. As a promise it is more forceful than the general tense.

The suffixes of the positive future verb forms are

	SINGULAR	PLURAL
ıst	-(y) V ² c V ² ğ i/1 m	-(y) V ² c V ² ğ i/1 z
2nd	-(y) V ² c V ² k s i/1 n	-(y) V ² c V ² k s i/1 n i/1 z
3rd	-(y) V ² c V ² k (t i/1 r)	-(y) V ² c V ² k 1 V ² r (d i/1 r)

When the syllable -t/d i/1 r (see Lesson 14, section 1) is added to the third person singular or plural, the force of the assertion is somewhat strengthened.

Verb stems which end in e or a change the final e to i and the final a to i before the immediately following (buffer) y of the future suffixes.

	SINGULAR		PLURAL
ıst	gideceğim	I shall go. I am going to go.	gideceğiz
2nd	gideceksin		gideceksiniz
3rd	gidecek(tir)		gidecekler(dir)
1st 2nd 3rd	bulacağım bulacaksın bulacak(tır)	I shall find (it).	bulacağız bulacaksınız bulacaklar(dır)
1st 2nd 3rd	anlıyacağım anlıyacaksın anlıyacak(tır)	I shall understand (it).	anlıyacağız anlıyacaksınız anlıyacaklar(dır)

Note that before the immediately following (buffer) y of the future suffixes, a final vowel V^2 becomes the variable vowel i/1.

The future interrogative forms are

	SINGULAR		PLURAL
ıst	gidecek miyim?	Shall I go? Am I going to go?	gidecek miyiz?
2nd	gidecek misin?		gidecek misiniz?
3rd	gidecek mi(dir)?		gidecekler mi(dir)?

3. Adverbs

3rd anlamıyacak mı(dır)?

The same word may serve as adjective and adverb.

iyi bir kız a good girl

iyi anlamak to understand well anlamıyacaklar mı(dır)?

4. Comparison

The simple expression of comparison requires only the ablative suffix.

benden büyük bigger than I sizden iyi better than you ondan az less than that

The fuller expression of comparison adds the adverbs daha 'more' or az 'less.' The superlative uses the adverbs en 'most' or en az 'least.'

benden daha büyük bigger than I sizden daha iyi better than you en büyük the biggest en az the least sizden az çalışkan less industrious than you en az çalışkan the least industrious

5. Emphatics

Many adjectives have special emphatic forms. Such forms are shown in dictionaries as separate words.

ADJEC	CTIVE	E	MPHATIC FORM
beyaz	white	bembeyaz	white as can be, as snow
açık	open	apaçık	wide open uzun	long	upuzun	extremely long çıplak	naked	çırçıplak	stark naked
siyah	black	simsiy ah	jet black

Apart from these emphatics, the ordinary means for securing emphasis is simply to say a word twice.

yavaş slowly yavaş yavaş very slowly Güldü güldü. He laughed and laughed.

6. The suffix -c/c V²

Among the uses of this suffix are

a. to mean 'as for.'

bence as for me, as I see it fikrince as for my idea, in my view, etc.

b. to mean 'ish' (frequently pejorative), '-ly.'

cocukça like a child, childishly, kiddish, kiddishly aptalca stupidly türkçe in the Turkish way, i.e., the Turkish language (and so with all languages, Arapça, Fransızca, Rusça, İngilizce, etc.)

Note: bu 'this' forms bunca 'thus,' 'in this way,' 'this much.'

c. yüzlerce hundreds and hundreds, hundred after hundred yıllarca years and years, year after year

1. Postpositions

Turkish postpositions—some of them suffixes, some of them independent words—follow substantives and govern them much as English prepositions govern the substantives which they precede.

Classified according to the suffixes which they require on the preceding substantives, Turkish postpositions are:

CLASS I: postpositions which require that the preceding substantive have the ablative suffix:

CLASS II: postpositions which require that the preceding substantive have the dative suffix; and CLASS III: postpositions that require a preceding personal or interrogative pronoun or singular demonstrative pronoun to have the possessive suffix but that require no suffix on other preceding substantives.

The important postpositions include

CLASS I (ablative suffix on preceding substantive)

Başka may also be an adjective.

CLASS III (no suffix on any preceding substantive except a personal pronoun, a singular interrogative pronoun, and a singular demonstrative pronoun—these require the possessive suffix) ile—'with,' independent word, also used in the suffixed form -1 V². After a final vowel, suffixed -1 V² may become -y 1 V². Both ile and -(y) 1 V² frequently are followed by beraber, 'together': ile beraber or -(y) 1 V² beraber, 'together with.'

benim ile, benimle with me

çocuk ile, çocukla with (the) child bunun ile beraber, bununla beraber together with this, moreover

2. Expressions of location

Much of the work of English prepositions is done in Turkish by nouns of place used in possessive constructions.

I. The verb 'to be'

The Turkish verb 'to be' is defective. It lacks the infinitive and several tenses. These missing forms may be replaced by corresponding forms of olmak 'to become.'

Some forms of 'to be' are suffixes. This is true of the present forms.

	SINGULAR	PLURAL
1st person	-(y) V ⁴ m	-(y) V4 z
2nd person	-s V4 n	-s V4 n V4 z
3rd person	-t/d V4 r	-t/d V4 r 1 V2 r

Note: The third singular and plural are frequently omitted. (See Lesson 3, section 3.)

The indefinite article (bir) is not used

a. with negative of 'to be'

Çocuk değilim.

I'm not a child.

b. with expressions of occupation, nationality, etc.

Amerikalıyım.

I am an American.

The generic is frequently used where English expects a plural.

2. Var and yok

The two words var 'extant,' 'in existence' and yok 'non-extant,' 'not in existence' are of remarkable frequence and importance in Turkish.

Their principal functions are to express: possession, the verb 'to have' and the English 'there is' and 'there are.'

Var and yok are always used with some form of the verb 'to be'—understood if not expressed. In the third present, singular and plural, the verb form is usually not expressed.

Bir cocuğum var(dır). I have a child. Cocuğun var mı(dır)? Ahmedin iki çocuğu var(dır). İki cocuğumuz var(dır). Cocuğunuz var mı(dır)? Onların bir cocukları var(dır). Cocuğum yok(tur). Cocuğu yok mu(dur)? Bir çocuğum vardı (var idi). Ahmedin bir cocuğu yok muydu? Evde ne var(dır)? Evde bes kutu var(dır). Evde ne vardı? Evde beş kutu vardı. Sizde para var mı(dır)?

Have you a child?
Ahmet has two children.
We have two children.
Do you have children?

Doesn't he have a child?
I had a child.
Didn't Ahmet have a child?
What is there in the house?
There are five boxes in the house.
What was there in the house?
There were five boxes in the house.
Do you have any money ('on you')?

Sizde para yok mu(dur)? Don't you have any money with you?

Ahmette hiç para yoktu (yok idi). Ahmet didn't have any money with him.

Mehmette çok para vardı (var idi). Mehmet had a lot of money with him.

Mehmedin çok parası vardı (var Mehmet was very rich (had a lot of money).

3. The resumptive question

In English one repeats a verb in the interrogative in order to gather up the conversation and proceed. In Turkish, the same effect is produced, for any verb, simply by adding değil mi? (compare French 'n'est-ce pas?').

Gitti, değil mi? He went, didn't he?
Gelmiyecekler, değil mi? They won't come, will they?

1. The suffix -1 V4

The suffix -1 V⁴ (whose meaning is the opposite of -s V⁴ z, see section 2, below) forms adjectives meaning 'having,' 'possessed of.'

para	money	paralı	rich
ev	house	evli	married (has a home)
elektrik	electricity	elektrikli	electrified, wired for electricity
yaş	age (of a human)	yaşlı	aged

2. The suffix -s V4 z

This suffix, the opposite of the suffix -1 V⁴, forms adjectives meaning 'without,' 'deprived of,' '-less.'

parasız	moneyless	tuzsuz	salt free
susuz	waterless, thirsty	şekersiz	without sugar

3. The suffix -1 V4 k

This suffix forms nouns, usually abstract.

evli	married	evlilik	matrimony
öğretmen	teacher	öğretmenlik	profession of being a teacher
büyük	large	büyüklük	largeness, size; adulthood; greatness
göz	eye	gözlük	eyepiece, glasses
parasız susuz	moneyless arid	parasızlık susuzluk	poverty waterlessness, thirst

Note also:

satılık ev	house for sale
kiralık ev	house for rent
şimdilik	for the present, for now
beş kişilik otomobil	five-passenger car
günlük gazete	daily newspaper

4. Past indefinite verb forms

Turkish seldom expresses past time without simultaneously specifying one aspect of what happened, which English usually ignores. This aspect is the definiteness of the speaker's (or writer's) knowledge of what happened.

The word gitti (past definite) means 'He (definitely) went.' The corresponding past indefinite form means 'He (apparently, allegedly, reportedly, presumably, or ostensibly) went (but I am not sure enough of this assertion to be able honestly to say gitti).'

The past indefinite verb forms use these suffixes

5. Past narrative verb forms

The preceding verb forms—past indefinite—with the addition of only a final -t/d V⁴ r to the third singular and plural, provide a past narrative tense much used by newspapers and storytellers.

The past narrative verb forms (third person) are

singular

plural

3rd Gitmislerdir. Gitmemislerdir.

6. Past perfect verb forms

Combining the verb form ending in -m V⁴s (the past participle; see Lesson 16, section 2) with the past of the verb 'to be' produces a verb form whose tense value is well back in the past. According to context it may be understood as past ('I went') or, frequently, as past perfect ('I had gone').

The past perfect verb forms are

singular

I had gone.

1. The partitive

The English partitive construction, e.g., 'one of a number,' 'part of a whole' has as its usual Turkish counterpart this pattern.

onlardan biri

one of them (from them)

The ablative expresses the idea 'from the whole'; the incomplete possessive construction (no expressed first member) expresses the part.

aralarından biri

one of them (from their midst)

In this usage, a word may bear what appear to be two possessive suffixes.

aralarından birisi

one of them

The word birisi also means 'someone,' 'somebody.'

Birisi gitmiş. Birisi gitti. (Apparently) somebody went. Somebody (definitely) went.

Similar forms include

bazı	some	bazısı	some of it, of them
kim?	who?	Kimi geldi, kimi gelmedi.	Some of them came and some didn't.
başka	other	bir başkası	another of them,
	44		some other one
hep	all	hepsi	all of it, of them
		hepiniz	all of you
her	each, every	her biri	each one (of them)
birçok	a lot	birçoğu	a lot of it (of them)
	Compare	birçokları	a lot of them

2. Participles

The third person singular, positive and negative of the (a) general verb forms, (b) past indefinite verb forms, and (c) future verb forms may be used as verbal adjectives (participles).

akar su

okumus (olan) bir adam

(olan—present participle of olmak—may be used or omitted as one chooses.)

gelecek sene (or) gelecek olan sene

water which flows: running water man who has read: educated man next year, coming year, year that will come gecmis zaman hitmez is time that has passed; past tense work that does not end: endless tack

seni anlıvacak bir kız

a girl who'll understand you Any participle, when it modifies no expressed word, may become a substantive and, in that event, may take suffixes. the writer's house vazarın evi vazarların evleri

the writers' houses

Olacak oldu

What was to happen happened.

The present participle is formed by the suffix -(v) V² n added to the positive or negative verb stem.

Note: The buffer (v) alters an immediately preceding a to i, and an immediately preceding e to i.

POSITIVE NEGATIVE giden going, one who goes gitmiyen hilen knowing, one who knows bilmiven anlıvan understanding, one who understands anlamıvan istiven desiring, one who desires istemiyen

A participle (verbal adjective) not only modifies words (its adjectival function) but also may exert verb force (can require other words to take suffixes).

oraya giden adamlar Ankaraya gidenler Ankaradan gelen iki kadın (the) men who go there those who go to Ankara

(the) two women coming from Ankara

3. Gerund in -t/d V4 k

The gerund (verbal noun) in -t/d V⁴ k is almost always second member of a possessive construction. The principal exception to this is when such a gerund is governed by the postposition sonra 'after.'

gittikten sonra

after going, after having gone.

The time value of this gerund varies. It may express present or past time. The third person singular future serves as the future gerund.

geldiğimde

when I come, came, do come, did come, etc.

her gittiğimde gelmediğinizden dolayı

Ahmedin gelmiyeceğinden dolayı

at my every going, whenever I go, went, etc. because of your not coming, not having come, etc.

because Ahmet isn't going to come, won't come

4. Indirect discourse

The gerund in -t/d V^4 k (for past and present tenses) and the future gerund (for the future tense) are the usual ways of expressing indirect discourse. The usual verb indicating indirect discourse is söylemek (söyler). That of direct discourse is demek.

Study carefully the following examples.

1. Ahmet, 'Mehmet paramı aldı,' dedi.

2. Ahmet, Mehmedin parasını aldığını söyledi.

3. Ahmet, 'Mehmet hırsızdır,' dedi.

4. Ahmet, Mehmedin hırsız olduğunu söyledi.

5. Ahmet, 'Mehmet paramzı alacak, Selma,' dedi.

6. Ahmet, Selmaya Mehmedin parasını alacağını söyledi.

Ahmet said, 'Mehmet took my money.'

Ahmet said that Mehmet had taken his money.

Ahmet said, 'Mehmet's a thief.'

Ahmet said that Mehmet's a thief.

Ahmet said, 'Selma, Mehmet'll take your money.'

Ahmet told Selma that Mehmet will (would) take her money.

Note: In the above examples of indirect discourse, the subject of the dependent indirect construction becomes first member of a type I possessive construction, e.g., in sentences 2, 4, and in 6 the noun Mehmedin.

Note the type II possessive construction when the gerund is governed by a postposition.

Babam, Ahmet gelmediği için bana yazdı.

My father wrote me because Ahmet didn't come.

5. Relative gerundive and adverb

When the verb form in -t/d V⁴ k modifies an expressed word, this form serves as verbal adjective (gerundive). This form seldom appears without some other suffix or suffixes added.

Used with possessive suffixes, this gerundive is called the relative gerundive.

Turkish has no single words equivalent to the English relative pronouns ('who,' 'which,' 'that') or the English relative adverbs ('when,' 'where').

The boy who came. The girl whose mother came. The house that I saw. The day when we went. The house where I found you.

For the Turkish interrogative pronouns and adverbs, to be distinguished from the relatives, see Lesson 7, section 2, Lesson 8, section 5.

The English nominative (absolute, subject of a verb) relative pronoun is expressed in Turkish in the participle. As an attributive adjective the participle precedes the noun.

gelen adam man who is coming, who comes gelecek adam man who will come akar su water that (which) flows

An English possessive or objective relative pronoun is expressed in Turkish in the relative gerundive with a possessive suffix.

OBJECTIVE RELATIVE PRONOUN

gördüğüm adam (the) man whom I saw full form: benim onu gördüğüm adam gördüğün adam (the) man whom you saw

Note: In indirect discourse the interrogative pronoun (kim? 'who?') appears as follows:

1. Ahmet, 'Kim geldi?' dedi. Ahmet said, 'Who came?'

- 2. Ahmet kimin geldiğini sordu.
- 3. Ahmet bu kitabın kimin olduğunu sordu.
- Ahmet asked who had come (who came).
- Ahmet asked whose book this

Second only to the possessive construction (see Lesson 10), the greatest difficulty with which Turkish confronts the English speaker is the expression of the possessive and objective relative pronouns and of the relative adjectives. Careful study of the patterns given above will do much to smooth the student's path.

I. -ki

The suffix -ki (an element which does not conform to vowel harmony) has three principal uses.

a. Attached to a substantive, it forms an adjective.

sabahki hava morning weather evvelki gün previous day dünkü yağmur yesterday's rain

With dün 'yesterday' and gün 'day' ki-doesconform to vowel harmony.

b. Attached to a locative suffix, it forms an adjectival expression.

Amerikadaki çocuklar (the) children in America,
(the) children who are in America

ağaçtaki çiçekler (the) flowers in the tree,

(the) flowers which are in the tree

Ağaçtakiler güzeldir.

Bu fotoğraflardakilerden misiniz?

The ones in the tree are pretty.

Are you one of those who are in these photos?

c. Attached to the possessive forms of nouns and personal pronouns, -ki produces the equivalents of English 'X's,' 'mine,' 'yours,' etc.

Where is Ahmet's? Ahmedinki nerede? O benimkidir. That's mine. Benimkiler bunlar. These are mine. Seninki nerededir? Where's yours? Onunki voktur. He hasn't got one. Bu onunkidir. This one is his. Bizimkiler bunlar. These are ours. Bu bizimkidir. This is ours. Onlar sizinkiler, Those are yours, değil mi? aren't they? Onlarınkiler nerede? Where are theirs? Onlarınki bu mudur? Is this one theirs?

When further suffixes are attached to forms in -ki, a buffer n is used.

Ahmedinkini kim gördü? Who has seen Ahmet's?

2. Ki

The Persian relative 'kih' 'that' has been taken into Turkish as ki, along with its grammar.

İsmi Hasan olan bir There was a man whose name adam vardı. was Hasan.

Contrast Bir adam vardı ki ismi There was a man whose name was Hasan idi. Hasan (that his name was . . .).

Ki sometimes 'ends' an unfinished expression.

O kadar gördük ki!

We saw so much that (I can't begin to tell you)!

3. Çünkü

The Persian 'çünkü' 'because' also imports non-Turkish grammar into Turkish.

Hava fena olduğu için

Because the weather was bad, we gitmedik.

didn't go.

Contrast Gitmedik çünkü hava fena idi.

We didn't go, because the weather was bad.

Note: Zira, also borrowed from Persian, is used in the same way as çünkü. Foreigners learning or using Turkish should avoid overuse of ki, çünkü, and zira. No matter how aptly the non-Turk may use these words, he will always be vulnerable to the charge 'That's not Turkish.'

4. The professional doer

The suffix -c/c V⁴ added to a noun forms the noun which names the individual 'who does,' the professional. This suffix is frequently followed by -l V⁴ k to form the name of the profession.

gazete newspaper gazeteci journalist gazetecilik journalism

banka

bankacı bankacılık bank

banker

banking, the banking business

kitap

kitapçı kitapçılık book

bookseller

the book business

5. The habitual doer

The suffix -(y) V⁴ c V⁴ added to a verb stem forms the noun of the habitual doer, the individual who customarily or habitually performs the action involved, or who incites others to do so.

yazıcı

writer, secretary, scribe (from yazmak 'to write') görücü

(looker) the matchmaker of old-fashioned Turkish life, go-between (from görmek 'to see')

6. Diminutives

Turkish makes extensive use of diminutives. They indicate smallness, affection, sarcasm, or contempt. The usual suffix is -ç/c V⁴ k.

oda	room	odacık	little room
Hasan		Hasancık	little Hasan, good old Hasan, pal Hasan
Mehmet		Mehmetçik	Turkey's GI Joe,
			Tommy Atkins
sair	poet	saircik	poetaster, poetizer

A final k may drop out before the diminutive suffix.

ufak	small	ufacık	tiny küçük	little	küçücük	tiny mini	tiny	minicik	very tiny
		mini minicik	minuscule

Another diminutive suffix is - ς /c V^2 § i/1 z. It is usually used pityingly.

kadın woman kadıncağız poor woman

7. Noun of manner

The suffix -(y) V4 $ added to a verb stem forms the noun of manner.

gidiş	going, way of going anlayış	penetration, way of understanding giriş	entrance, way of going in çıkış	exit, way of leaving

1. Progressive verb forms

The progressive verb forms denote action still going on and not yet completed.

The suffixes of the present progressive verb forms are

	SINGULAR	PLURAL
Ist	-(V)4 y o r u m	-(V4) y o r u z
2nd	-(V4) yorsun	-(V4) yorsunuz
3rd	-(V4) y o r	-(V4) y o r l a r

The symbol (V4) in these forms denotes a vowel buffer. It is used after any positive verb stem which ends in a consonant. After a verb stem which ends in a vowel—this, of course, includes all negative verb stems—the (V4) buffer is omitted

The final vowel of any verb stem (positive or negative) which ends in e or a is altered by the immediately following initial v of the progressive suffixes. The verb stem's final e becomes i: its final a becomes i. Hence the verb demek (der) forms divorum 'I am saving,' etc.

The syllable yor is invariable and hence violates vowel harmony.

The past progressive verb forms use these suffixes

	SINGULAR	PLURAL
Ist	-(V4) y o r d u m	-(V4) y o r d u k
2nd	-(V4) yordun	-(V4) yordunuz
3rd	-(V4) y o r d u	-(V4) yorlardı

Strictly, the present progressive verb forms gidiyorum means

I am (now in the action of) going.

(or) I (have been in the action of going and still) am going.

In ordinary use, however, gidiyorum frequently also may have a general sense.

> Her gün gidiyorum. I am going daily.

The past progressive conveys the idea of 'used to be X-ing.'

Gidiyorum. I used to go (used to be in the action of going).

NOTE: I have been working at this school for two İki seneden beri bu mektepte years (and still am). calisiyorum. İki seneden beri o mektepte I had been working at that school for two years (but no longer am). calisivordum.

Note also this pattern.

Gitmek üzereyim.	I'm just going, just about to go.
Gitmek üzereydim.	I was just about to go.

3. Ordinals and distributives

The ordinals ('1st,' '2nd,' '3rd,' etc.) are formed with the suffix -(V^4) n c V^4 . The distributives ('one by one,' 'by twos,' 'in threes,' etc.) are formed with the suffix -(\S) V^2 r.

CARDINAL	ORDINAL	DISTRIBUTIVE
bir	birinci (Iinci)	birer

The distributives are frequently said twice.

Birer birer geldiler. They came one by one.

Note also:

ilk (the) first son (the) last kacıncı? (the) how-manyeth?

4. Gerundive in -(y) V²

The suffix -(y) V² added to a verb stem makes a form comparable to the English verbal adjective in -ing.

koşmak to run koşa running (adjective) gülmek to laugh güle laughing

Koşa koşa geldi. He came on the run (running, running).

Güle güle gitti. He went laughingly.

One says to a person who has a new garment

Güle güle giviniz!

Wear it in happiness!

To a person who has a new abode

Güle güle oturunuz!

Live (dwell) there in happiness!

In Turkish, saving good-bye follows this pattern.

a. Allaha ismarladik (usually contracted to Alasmaladik).

'Well. I have decided to depart, good-bye,' (lit, 'We have commended [you] to God.' This is said by the person who is leaving.)

b. Güle güle (gidiniz)!

'Good-bye.' (lit. '[Go] laughing, laughing,' response of the person of whom leave is being taken.)

Note: From demek 'to say' (used with direct quotations) comes the gerundive dive 'saving.'

Kız 'Baban nerede' dive bana sordu.

The girl asked me, 'Where is your father?'

Dive may represent a pair of 'spoken' quotation marks.

Arkadaslar dive söze hasladı. Gitmek istemiyorum diye bağırdı.

He began (his) speech with (the word) 'friends.'

He shouted, 'I don't want to go!'

Dive may also mean 'on the pretext that,' 'on the supposition that.'

Balık tutarım diye göle gitti.

He went to the lake, hoping (on the supposition) that he would catch some fish.

Ne dive is a frequent expression for 'why?'

Ne dive gelmediniz? Why didn't you come?

'To be able'

The gerundive in -(y) V²—and not the verb stem—is the base on which various compound verb forms are built. Of these the most important are the forms composed of the gerundive in -(y) V² plus bilmek, the device by which Turkish expresses the idea of 'to be able' ('to know how to'). In the negative, tense and person suffixes are added directly to the negative gerund. Forms of bilmek are not required.

13. Ne kadar para istersen iste! Ben sana beş kuruş vermem.

1. Auxiliary verb

Etmek (eder) is the usual auxiliary. An older auxiliary is eylemek. Both mean 'to do' and both are seldom used except as auxiliaries. The usual word for 'to do' is yapmak ('make,' 'do,' 'manufacture').

The auxiliary is used with numerous nouns, especially with Arabic infinitives.

teşekkür etmek to thank (to do the action teşekkür 'to render thanks') bahsetmek to discuss, talk about (with ablative), to mention

The old verb kılmak ('make,' 'do') today seldom appears except in the expression namaz kılmak to perform the formal Moslem prayer ritual.

Yapmak sometimes is used as an auxiliary, especially when the auxiliary is in the relative gerundive form.

Ahmedin yaramazlık yaptığı gün

denize nazır bir oda a room looking onto (with dative) the sea Turkish frequently uses the cognate object.

yazı yazmak to write (writing)
yemek yemek to eat (food)

Sometimes a cognate subject is used.

Yağmur yağıyor. It's raining. (Rain is raining.)

2. Optative-subjunctive

The ideas of 'may' and 'might' can be expressed by the optative-subjunctive verb forms. Their suffixes, added to the gerundive (and not to the verb stem), are

	SINGULAR	PLURAL
ist person	-y i/1 m	-1 i/1 m
and person	-s i/1 n	-s i/1 n i/1 z
3rd person	-V ²	-1 V ² r

PRESENT OPTATIVE-SUBJUNCTIVE VERB FORMS

		POSITIVE		NEGATIVE

	1st person	gideyim	that I may, might go	gitmeyeyim
	2nd person 3rd person	gidesin gide		gitmeyesin gitmeye

INTERROGATIVE

singular
1st person	gideyim mi?	gitmeyeyim mi?
plural
1st person	gidelim mi?	gitmeyelim mi?

Rather than the third person present optative-subjunctive forms, Turkish favors the use of the third person imperatives. (See Lesson 7, section 4.)

PAST

The optative-subjunctive past forms are seldom used. For the expression of hopeless wishes use of the conditional is more common.

sin	1	l
SID	011	ıяг

1st person	geleydim	I should	gelmeyeydim

3. Necessity

English 'have to,' 'must,' 'obliged to,' etc., are most frequently expressed by the suffix

-m V21 i/I added directly to the verb stem (positive or negative) and followed by the required form of the verb 'to be.'

PRESENT

singular
1st person	Gitmeliyim	I have to go.	Gitmemeliyim
2nd person	Gitmelisin		Gitmemelisin

	1st person	Gitmeli miyiz?	Gitmemeli miyiz?
	2nd person	Gitmeli misiniz?	Gitmemeli misiniz?
	3rd person	Gitmeliler mi?	Gitmemeliler mi?

The third singular forms may be used impersonally.

Oraya gitmeli.	It's necessary to go there. One should (has to) go there.
Oraya gitmemeli.	It's necessary not to go there. One should not go there.

Compare with this usage the following patterns.

Oraya gitmek lâzım(dır).	It is necessary to go there.
Oraya gitmek gerek(tir).	It is right (proper, necessary) to go there.

Gitmemelisiniz

Gitmemeli(dir)ler

The noun mecburiyet 'obligation,' 'necessity' furnishes another frequently used means of expressing necessity.

Gitmek mecburiyetindeyim. I must go. (I am in the necessity of going.)

Gitmek mecburiyetinde Did they have to go? (Were they in the necessity of going?)

4. Condition

The sign of the conditional has two forms.

a. -s V2 (suffix)

b. ise (independent word)

The conditional sign may follow a substantive.

o ise, he, however; as for him; if he (i.e., if you mean him . . .)

kitapta ise in the book, however; if in the book

(i.e., if you mean in the book . . .) nevertheless; even so; be that as it may ne ise, neyse nevertheless; even so her neden ise, her nedense for whatever reason

(her) nasilsa some way or other yoksa or else

kimse nobody, no one (used with other negatives), someone

Evde kimse yok. There's nobody home. Kimseyi bulamadım. I couldn't find anybody.

Note particularly this pattern gitmektense rather than going

Ben, sinemaya gitmektense Instead of going to the movies, evde kalmayı tercih ettim. I preferred to stay home.

The suffixes of the present conditional verb forms, added directly to the verb stem, positive or negative, are

	SINGULAR	PLURAL
1st person	-s V ² m	-s V ² k
2nd person	-s V ² n	-s V ² n i/1 z
3rd person	-s V ²	-s V ² 1 V ² r

PRESENT CONDITIONAL

1st person 2nd person 3rd person	gitsem gitsen gitse	gitmesem gitmesen gitmese
plural
1st person 2nd person 3rd person	gitsek gitseniz gitseler	gitmesek gitmeseniz gitmeseler

Used alone—in an unfinished condition or in a question—these forms may mean 'Wouldn't it be a good idea if . . . ?'

Haydi, ne dersin?
Kalksak, denize girsek?
O gitmese mi?

Well, what do you say? Wouldn't it be nice if we got up and went into the water?

Is there any reason why he shouldn't go?

GENERAL CONDITIONAL

The general conditional verb forms are frequently used in expressing such indefinites as English 'whoever,' 'whatever,' 'wherever,' and 'whenever.'

Kim	isterse	gitsin.
Triii	IDICIDE	guoni.

O ne söylerse söylesin, doğru değildir.

O kız nereye giderse gitsin, ben Ankaraya gitmem.

(Her) ne zaman giderse gitsin, ben geleceğim. Whoever wants to go, may.

No matter what he says (whatever he may say, let him say [it]), it's not so.

No matter where that girl goes I'm not

No matter where that girl goes, I'm not going to Ankara.

No matter when he goes, I'll come.

The interrogative may also express a condition.

Beni gördü mü kaçar.

When he sees me, he runs off. If he sees me, he flees.

Passive Verbs. The Agent.

By whom was this book written?

- 2. Gitmemize müsaade edilecek mi?
 Will permission be given for us to go (for our going)?
- 3. Anlatabildim mi?

4. Bunun sebebi bilinmez.

8. Cocuk yıkandı.

The child washed himself.

9. Çocuğu yıkadık.

We bathed the child.

10. Bana hiç bir sey öğretemedi.

He was unable to teach me a thing.

1. Passive verbs

The formation of the passive depends upon the final sound of the verb stem.

a. Most verbs whose stems end in a vowel form the passive by adding n.

söylemek to say söylenmek to be said okumak to read okunmak to be read

b. Most verbs whose stems end in a consonant other than -1 form the passive by adding -V⁴ 1.

kırmak to break (transitive) kırılmak to be broken vermek to give verilmek to be given

c. Verbs whose stems end in -l form the passive by adding -V4 n.

bilmek to know bilinmek to be known bulmak to find bulunmak to be found

Note: bulunmak, 'to be found' (and 'to find one's self,' cf. French se trouver) is frequently used to mean 'to be' or 'to exist.'

The negative forms of the passive present no difficulties.

söylememek söylenmemek okumamak okunmamak kırılmamak vermemek verilmemek bilmemek bulmamak bulunmamak

The passive is very frequent in Turkish. It has two principal functions.

a. that of the English passive

Saatim nerede bulundu? Where was my watch found?
Saatim kırıldı. My watch was broken (was smashed).

b. that of the English active intransitive of such verbs as 'to break.' Note that English 'to break' has two meanings: a transitive meaning which requires an object—'I broke my watch.' and an intransitive meaning which requires no object—'My watch broke.'

Turkish kırmak 'to break' (transitive) expresses only the first of these meanings ('I broke my watch.') To express the second ('My watch broke.'), Turkish uses the passive. Hence the Turkish passive may have two connotations.

Saatim kırıldı. My watch was broken. (passive) Saatim kırıldı. My watch broke. (active intransitive)

Many intransitive (active voice) Turkish verbs may take a passive form, thereby expressing the English impersonal.

olmak, olunmak

Rica olunur (or Rica edilir).

It is requested.

gitmek, gidilmek

İstanbula nasıl gidilir?

How does one go to Istanbul?

Confusion seldom arises between

Saatim kırıldı.

My watch was smashed.

and Saatim kırıldı.

My watch broke.

2. The agent

Ambiguity may always be avoided by expressing the agent with the passive. The agent is shown by the noun taraf in a possessive construction plus the ablative.

(benim) tarafımdan (senin) tarafından onun tarafından by me by you by him (sizin) tarafınızdan onların tarafından otomobil tarafından by you by them by the (bizim) tarafımızdan

r, it) automobile

Another means of expressing the agent is the suffix -c/c V².

hükümetçe

by (the) government

3. Causative verbs

Most verbs form the causative by adding -t/d V⁴ r.

from bilmek, bildirmek to inform, assert, announce, communicate; to cause (someone) to know (something),

etc.

Bunu ona bildirdiler.

They caused this to be known to him.

They informed him of this.

Bu ona bildirildi.

This was made known to him.

Verbs whose stems end in a vowel add only a -t.

from anlamak, anlatmak to explain, recount, etc.

Mektubu bana anlattı. Mektup bana anlatıldı. He explained the letter to me. The letter was explained to me. Verbs whose stems end in c or s add -V4 r.

from içmek, içirmek to cause (someone) to drink (something) Sütü çocuğa içirdiler. They made the child drink the milk (got the child to drink it, gave it to the child to drink).

Çocuklara süt içirilir. Children are made to drink milk (are given milk to drink).

Polysyllabic verb stems ending in r or l add only a -t.

from oturmak, oturtmak to cause someone to sit down or dwell in (with objective definite)

Beni Ankarada oturttular. They made me live in Ankara (settled me there, got me quarters there, stationed me there, etc.).

Ankarada oturtuldum. I was made to live in Ankara.

The negative forms of the causative present no difficulties.

hildirmek hildirmemek hildirilmek hildirilmemek anlatmak anlatmamak anlatılmak anlatılmamak icirmek icirmemek icirilmemek icirilmek oturtmak oturtmamak oturtulmak oturtulmamak

4. Reflexive verbs

Reflexive verb forms usually add the suffix -(V4) n.

giymek to wear (clothes: transitive)

giyinmek to dress oneself

giyindirmek to clothe (someone else)

giyindirilmek to be clothed (by someone else)

5. Mutual verbs

The mutual or reciprocal verb forms add the suffix $-(V^4)$ \S . The basic connotation is mutuality of action.

carpmak to hit, strike against (with dative) çarpışmak to collide, (for two or more) to hit each other carpistirmak to cause to collide with each other çarpıştırılmak to be caused to collide görmek to see görüşmek to converse, talk together görüşülmek to be conversed about görüştürmek to make to converse with each other görüştürülmek to be made to converse with each other bulmak to find

buluşmak (for two or more) to meet together buluşturulmak to be caused to meet or get together

Note: A verb may be reciprocal in form although its meaning today retains little if any trace of the idea of mutuality.

kaçmak to flee

kaçışmak (for all) to flee, run off in different directions

gelmek to come gelişmek to flourish, to develop (intransitive) almak to take alişmak to accustom, familiarize oneself with

(with dative), become accustomed to

(with dative)

- 9. Selma iyileşti. Selma improved.
- 10. Ahmet birdenbire ihtiyarladı.Ahmet grew old all of a sudden.

1. Abbreviating verb forms

Turkish has two time-saving devices to avoid the necessity of repeating lengthy verb endings in such sentences as 'They had come to the house, seen all their friends, and then gone back home.' Note that all the verbs in this sentence are identical in person, number, and tense.

a. The first of these devices is simply to omit part of the ending of each verb until the final verb is reached. Then the last verb gets the full set of suffixes, and these are understood as serving for all the verbs.

Efendim, sizi tebrik eder, teşekkür eder, saygılarımı sunarım. 'Sir, I congratulate you, thank (you), and tender my regards.' In its full form, the sentence would be: Efendim, sizi tebrik ederim, teşekkür ederim ve saygılarımı sunarım. With the abbreviating forms, no coordinate conjunction is used.

This device is not used with the past definite forms.

b. The second abbreviating device is -(y) V⁴ p. In such a sentence as 'They came and saw.' the first verb receives only the abbreviating suffix, the second verb receives all necessary suffixes. The first verb is understood to bear all the suffixes of the second.

If both verbs in the sentence have a negative meaning, the first verb does not necessarily require the negative syllable. The negative of the second verb may serve for both. If the first verb is negative and the second positive, the -(y) V⁴ p is used with the negative verb stem.

This device should never be used more than once in any sentence. No coordinating conjunction may intervene between the form with the abbreviating suffix and the second verb.

gidip gelmek

O gün Ahmet okula gidip

sizi gördü.

O gün Ahmet sizi gelip

görmedi.

O gün Ahmet okula gitmeyip sizi gördü.

to go and come

That day, Ahmet went to school and saw you.

That day, Ahmet didn't come and see you.

That day Ahmet didn't go to school but did see you.

The abbreviating verb plus the relative gerundive furnish the Turkish expression for 'whether or not.'

Onun gelip gelmediğini bilmiyorum.

I don't know whether or not he came (has come).

2. Attendant circumstance

Turkish has two participles to convey the idea of attending circumstance. The action expressed by the participle was (is, will be) simultaneous with that expressed by the following main verb.

a. The first of these two Turkish circumstantial participles employs the present participle of 'to be.'

iken (independent word) or -ken (enclitic which ignores vowel harmony)

Ben burada iken Mehmet Ankara gitti. Siz burada iken Hasan

Siz burada iken Hasan bize gelmiyecek. While I was here, Mehmet went to Ankara. While you're here, Hasan won't come to our house.

İken and -ken combine with many verb forms, especially with the general participle.

gider iken or giderken okur iken or okurken

Cebimde para yokken siz hiç bir şey istemiyeceksiniz.

Ben yapma yapma derken o ağlamaya başladı.

while going while reading

So long as I have no money in my pocket, you won't ask for a thing.

While I was (still) saying, "Don't! Don't!' he started to bawl.

Derken, used alone, means 'While X was still saying . . .' 'Before you could say Jack Robinson.'

Derken, Mehmet geldi.

Whereupon, Mehmet came.

 b. The second of the Turkish circumstantial participles is formed by the suffix -(y) V² r V² k.

This form denotes an action or circumstance which accompanies the action expressed by the following main verb. Frequently the two verb forms best translate as coordinates.

Evime gelerek para istedi.

Evime gelerek beni bulamayıp gittiler.

He came to my house and asked for money.

They came to my house, couldn't find me, and went away.

3. Verb form in -(y) V4 n c V2

This suffix expresses the ideas of 'upon (his coming),' 'the moment that (he came),' etc.

Necdet sizi görünce kim bilir

ne diyecek?

Çocuklar derslerini bitirince bahçeye gittiler.

Who knows what Necdet will say when he sees you?

The children went to the garden when they had finished their lessons.

With the postposition kadar, this suffix has the sense of 'until,' 'up to the moment that,' etc.

Siz gelinceye kadar ben burada kalacağım.

I'll stay here until you come.

4. Verb form in -t/d V4 k ç V2

This form expresses the ideas of 'when,' 'whenever,' etc.

Onu gördükçe kız ağladı. Onu gördükçe ağlar. Whenever she saw it, the girl wept. Whenever he sees it, he weeps.

5. Derived verbs

The four principal means by which verbs are derived from substantives or modifiers are

a. The suffix -1 V²

aged ihtiyarlamak

ihtiyarlatmak ihtiyarlatılmak cok much, many, very coğalmak to increase (intransitive), to grow ment

coğaltılmak to be increased, be made grow

Compare küçük small küçülmek to grow smaller küçültmek to make smaller, belittle küçültülmek to be made smaller, belittled

d. The suffix -1 V2 ş birleşmek to come together, meet together, unite iyi good, well

iyileşmek to get better, get well, improve

(intransitive) iyileştirmek to make better, make well, improve

(transitive)

iyileştirilmek to be made better, well; to be improved

Note: Study of the above forms will demonstrate that they are parts of a living, human (and therefore illogical) speech, not of a rigid system. Therefore, the student's goal should be not to attempt to coin new forms 'by rule,' but to learn the forms which the Turks actually use.

Statement on Verb Forms.

True and Untrue Conditions

I. Statement on verb forms

The student who has mastered the material presented in the preceding lessons will now recognize, understand, and begin to be able to use the fundamental patterns of Turkish. The following tabulation of possible verb forms should help him identify the many combinations he will encounter as he uses the language.

These eight basic forms of the Turkish verb are familiar.

3RD PERSON SINGULAR

I.	past definite	gitti
2.	general	gider
3.	future	gidecek
4.	past indefinite	gitmiş
5.	progressive (present)	gidiyor
6.	optative-subjunctive	gide
7.	verb of necessity	gitmeli
8.	conditional	gitse

Disregarding infinitives, imperatives, and participles, the above eight forms represent the eight principal categories—or eight main lines of inflection—needed for comprehension of the entire Turkish verb system.

To use a figure of speech from the vocabulary of music, we may assert that in the symphony or harmony of Turkish speech, these eight categories are the verb system's eight principal themes. In music any given theme may be played, with strikingly different results, in more than one key. In the same way, we may say that the Turkish language has three keys and that most of the above eight themes may be put into each of the three keys, again with strikingly different results.

The three keys in Turkish are: the antedating key, the disclaiming key, and the provisional key.

a. ANTEDATING FORMS

The antedating key is formed by adding the past forms (independent or suffixed) of the verb 'to be' (see Lesson 14) to the third person singular theme form.

When any one of the eight themes is put into the antedating key, the time value of that theme's forms is thereby moved backward one notch (is 'antedated').

b. DISCLAIMING FORMS

This key is formed by adding the indefinite forms of the verb 'to be' (independent or suffixed) to the third person singular theme form.

When a theme is put into this key, the speaker (or writer) disclaims any personal knowledge of the accurateness of the assertion he is making.

When the past indefinite theme is put into the disclaiming key, the result is the strongest possible disclaimer of responsibility for the validity of the assertion.

There are no past definite disclaiming forms. One cannot logically disclaim and vouch for accuracy in one verb form.

Note: The analogy of musical themes and keys must not be pushed too far. The forms of a Turkish verb theme may stand in more than one key at the same time. Thus, each of the disclaimed theme verb forms may—when desired—also be antedated.

c. Provisional forms

The last of the three keys—the provisional—is formed with the conditional of the verb 'to be.' The conditional theme, naturally, does not occur in this key and neither does the optative-subjunctive theme. Verb forms put into the conditional key express the ideas of proviso or supposition.

Provided I go . . .
Suppose I go . . .
If I go . . ., etc.

2. True conditions

Conditions present two main types, true and untrue. The subject (i.e., the speaker or writer), speaking objectively, voices a simple 'if' without indicating or hinting whether he regards the proviso which he enunciates as being true or false, likely or unlikely, possible or impossible, etc.

In a true condition the conditional forms of the verb 'to be' (i.e., the provisional key) are added to the base (third person singular) of the appropriate verb of the protasis (the 'if' part of the condition). The apodosis (the 'why then' part of the condition) has its verb form exactly as that verb would be were no proviso stipulated at all.

True conditions can be classified according to the time value of the protasis verb.

Protasis verb is past.

Parayı gördü isen (gördüysen) bana söyle.
Parayı gördü ise (gördüyse) bana söyliyecek.
If he saw the money, he'll tell me.
Parayı görmüş ise (görmüşse) bana söyliyecek.
If he saw (has seen) the money, he'll tell me.

Protasis verb is present.

O geliyor ise (geliyorsa) siz gitmelisiniz. If he is (now) coming, you must go.

Protasis verb is future.

O Ankarada kalacak ise (kalacaksa) annesi hasta değildir. If he is going to stay in Ankara, his mother is not sick.

Note: Many protasis verbs have a vague time value, present or future. For example, Parayı istersen, söyle.

If you want the money, say (so).

Parayı bulamazsan söyle.

If you can't find the money, say so.

Adamı görürsen bana söyle.

If you see the man, tell me (so).

Adamı görürsen bana söyliyeceksin, değil mi?

If you see the man, you'll tell me, won't you?

3. Untrue conditions

The subject (i.e., the speaker or writer), speaking subjectively, not only says 'if' but also states or hints whether he regards the proviso he is enunciating as being true or untrue, likely or unlikely, possible or impossible, etc.

In an untrue condition, the protasis verb is conditional theme present (or) antedated.

The apodosis verb is general theme antedated (or) future theme antedated.

PROTASIS VERB

Paranızı bulsa

Paranızı bulsaydı (bulsa idi)

APODOSIS VERB

onu size verirdi.

onu size verecekti.

Each of the sentences means

If he had found your money, he would have given it to you. (and the speaker indicates his own belief, namely, that X did not find the money).

ELEMENTARY TURKISH

Lewis V. Thomas

Revised and Edited by Norman Itzkowitz

Turkish is the primary language of some thirty million people. Anyone concerned with current social, political and cultural developments in Turkey knows that a practical understanding of the basic patterns of modern Turkish is an invaluable skill that until now has been difficult to attain without extensive training.

This superb grammar and exercise text, used successfully for years at Princeton University, enables English-speaking students—in and out of the classroom—to gain a quick and thorough understanding of modern Turkish. In a carefully arranged sequence of 23 lessons, Lewis V. Thomas, late Professor of Oriental Studies at Princeton, presents thorough coverage that allows the student to begin to use the basic patterns of modern Turkish without time-consuming and expensive private instruction.

The method of instruction was devised after an extensive analysis of results in Princeton classrooms, and relies on exercises at the end of each lesson to test the student's grasp of the material. Beginning with the alphabet and numbers, Professor Thomas offers clear, concise coverage of articles, adjectives and nouns, common infinitives, personal pronouns, and elementary verbs. As the student's comprehension of basic elements develops, further lessons deal with more complicated subjects such as the possessive construction, past general verbs, postpositions, the partitive, progressive verb forms, and abbreviating verb forms. A complete Turkish-English glossary translates new vocabulary occurring in the exercises.

Norman Itzkowitz, Professor of Near Eastern Studies at Princeton University, has skillfully made the necessary revisions and additions to complete Professor Thomas' work. For anyone who needs to communicate in this important and influential language, Professor Thomas' proven course, now in an inexpensive paperback edition, is the most effective method available.

Unabridged, slightly corrected Dover (1986) republication of the first edition published by Harvard University Press, 1967. Glossary. 192pp. $5\% \times 8\%$. Paperbound.
